Dear Student,

The Texas Tech Pre-Law Program is pleased to offer a Mock LSAT event on Saturday, October 28 at 8:30 a.m. This event is free and it is open to any actively registered Texas Tech student.

While specific event details will be released more closely to the test date, students can expect to take a full-length LSAT preptest from December 2016 in an environment that will closely match the actual LSAT experience. This preptest contains four sections covering logical reasoning, analytical reasoning, and reading comprehension. Please note that there will be no Writing Sample section on this preptest. The test will take approximately four hours to complete. Once students have completed the test, they will receive an answer key and information on how to convert their raw score into an LSAT score.

Our goal with this event is to help any student, regardless of their experience with the LSAT, prepare for a high-stakes testing situation that will ultimately impact where they attend law school and how much they will pay for it. We encourage anyone who is contemplating applying to law school to participate regardless of their familiarity with the LSAT.

We are hosting this event independent of any corporation or testing entity at no cost to any student. Thus, space is limited to 60 students. Students who want to participate can complete a registration form on our website: http://www.depts.ttu.edu/advising/prelaw/. Registration for this event is on a strict first-come, first-served basis. Students must be actively registered for courses in the Fall 2017 semester to participate.

If you have questions about this event, do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,
