Position Number: 11707BR
Appointment: Tenure track, beginning fall 2018
Application Deadline: Review of applicants will begin October 15 and will continue until the position is filled
Salary: Commensurate with qualifications and experience

The Texas Tech University J.T. & Margaret Talkington College of Visual & Performing Arts in collaboration with the School of Art is accepting applications for a tenure-track faculty position in the area of graphic design. This position seeks a nationally or internationally prominent graphic designer with a commitment to helping to guide the graphic design program to national distinction and nurturing the next generation of graphic designers/educators/scholars enrolled in our BFA program. The successful candidate will begin service in this full-time position at the beginning of the 2018 fall semester.

Qualifications: BFA in Graphic Design w/Master’s Degree in Graphic Design or a related field (such as Visual Communications or Interface Media), or equivalent professional experience. Record of professional activity and or research that demonstrates emerging or established national recognition in the field of graphic design is paramount. Candidate will continue professional research that is relevant to the current and future practice of graphic design. Working knowledge of current practice and theory in interface media related to usability and design with a vision towards future developments. Commitment to quality, student-centered education and working as a team member.

Preferred Qualifications:
Ability to form partnerships within and outside of the university, regionally, nationally, and internationally. The ideal candidate would have superior analog and digital graphic design skills, facility with design history and theory and an active practice that includes community engagement and/or collaboration. Familiarity with current and cutting edge practices in graphic design. One or more years of teaching related to the position of hire.

Position Description:
The successful candidate will:

- Demonstrate ability to teach graphic design for mobile devices and the web, typography, visual systems.
- Embrace new forms of critically engaged disciplinary practice in the changing field of graphic design. All courses should emphasize a commitment to social responsibility and advocacy as they relate to the field.

- Maintain an active and recognized professional practice of client-initiated or self-initiated design development and/or academic research investigations.
- Actively participate in departmental, college and university service, including committee work and academic support services such as portfolio reviews, student advising, and recruitment activities.
- Implement and assess program outcomes, conduct program review; participate in maintaining the graphic design area’s accreditation with NASAD; engage in student advising, supervision of student organizations and work well with colleagues within and outside the School, particularly in building interdisciplinary collaborations.

The School of Art is NASAD accredited and offers the BA in Art History, BA in Art, the BFA in Studio Art, Graphic Design, and Visual Studies (teacher certification), the MAE, the MFA in Studio Art, MA in Art History, and the Ph.D. in Fine Arts with a major in Art termed “Critical Studies and Artistic Practice.” A faculty of 31 full-time professors serves approximately 250 undergraduate students and 60 students involved in graduate study. The School has many prominent alumni, including Caleb Bennett, John Hitchcock, Rob Wilson, Ken Little, Real Musgrave and Lana Rigsby. Technical and administrative support includes a total of 13 staff positions. The School’s Visual Resource Center maintains art reference books, current art periodicals, instructional media, digital classrooms, and a legacy slide collection, as well as an expanding collection of digital images for teaching and research. Additional images are available through ARTStor and online at the university library. The program also supports the Landmark Arts Galleries and the Standing Room Only Photography Gallery (SRO).
