Texas Tech Chemical Engineering Department alumnus, Lynn Irvine, will share observations from her varied career in the chemical industry on key traits for industry success. Ms. Irvine will also discuss the value of augmenting an engineering degree with a business education (MBA) and how it can positively impact different career paths.