Welcome to the Texas Tech Spanish & Portuguese Graduate Program!

We are pleased that you have chosen to continue your studies with us, and we are committed to providing a quality graduate learning environment that will enable you to pursue your advanced studies guided by graduate faculty with a passion for teaching, scholarship, and service.

This Graduate Student Manual is your guide to the policies and procedures of our graduate programs. It explains curricula, contains sample forms, and communicates as much as possible how our programs work.

In addition to this manual, all graduate students should obtain and carefully read the Texas Tech Catalog as well as the Graduate School webpage, which contain all updated policies, forms, deadlines and procedures required by the University.

Graduate Studies in Spanish and Portuguese at CMLL

The Spanish & Portuguese Program seeks to offer a wide range of compelling courses not only in the languages, literatures and cultures of the Spanish and Portuguese-speaking world but also in linguistics, film, critical theories, and a variety of interdisciplinary approaches that reflect the research and teaching interests of our dynamic and professionally active faculty. As a community of active scholars, we strive to offer to all our graduate students the opportunity for intellectual growth, for the development of critical and analytical skills, for the acquisition of a theoretical foundation for their work, and for the attainment of their professional development as teachers.

In our M.A. program, we strive to provide our students with a comprehensive knowledge of major fields of expertise in the discipline through a curriculum that will encourage them to learn broadly and think deeply. At the Ph.D. level, we endeavor to help our students build on that comprehensive knowledge as they strengthen their theoretical framework and achieve a more advanced level of expertise in a chosen area of research in which they will make a contribution to the field through their doctoral dissertations.
Admission Process

✓ To be admitted within our programs you must first apply to the Graduate School.
✓ Obtain official transcripts from all universities attended.
✓ Provide two recommendation letters from former professors.

Applicants should complete and submit their applications on time and in accordance with the instructions provided on our webpage. This procedure lessens the chance of late or misplaced supporting documents and gives applicants more control over the entire process.

Application Checklist

• GRE scores (for students whose undergraduate degree was completed within the United States).
• Unofficial TOEFL/IELTS scores (for International Students or students whose native language is other than English)*
• Official transcripts from all previously-attended universities.
• Statement of Purpose (500-700 words in Spanish): State the reasons why you are applying to this program, including a) your experience with the Spanish language, b) your experience with Hispanic cultures and literatures and c) their relationship to your future plans (See details below).
• Two letters of recommendations (at least one should be from a university professor).
• Brief curriculum vitae (1-2 pages).
• Academic writing sample in Spanish (5-7 pages for MA prospect students; 10-12 pages for PhD prospect students).

* Admitted students whose native language is other than English, and who do not submit GRE scores must complete one of the Texas Tech University approved English exams with a score of:

  50 on a TOEFL paper exam
  213 on a TOEFL computer exam
  79 on a TOEFL Internet exam
  6.5 on the IELTS

If the student has a degree from a U.S. university, the TOEFL and/or IELTS may be waived provided that he/she is proficient in English.

English Proficiency

Students' English proficiency will be determined by an approved ITA (International Teaching Assistant) staff member through a performance test or a Skype interview. All non-native speakers of English should contact Carla Burrus to comply with TTU requirements.

Readmission Process/Deferment Policies from the Graduate School

Students who fail to register or who leave school during a spring or fall semester must submit the “Graduate Application Change Form” (See Appendix) plus a non-refundable application change fee; the form and the current application change fee are both available on the website www.depts.ttu.edu/gradschool. Automatic readmission is not guaranteed. As specified in the TTU Catalog, departments will consider students on a case-by-case basis.

The Office of Graduate Admissions will notify the applicant of the department’s decision via the Raiderlink portal.

International and domestic students who wish to defer admission to a semester for which they did not originally apply must submit the “Graduate Application Change Form” plus a non-refundable application change fee; the form and the current application change fee are both available at www.depts.ttu.edu/gradschool. Deferral of admission is not guaranteed; departments will consider students on a case-by-case basis. The Office of Graduate Admissions will notify the student of the department’s decision via the Raiderlink portal.
The Statement of Intent for M.A. or Ph.D. Applicants

All applicants should state their reasons for applying to our graduate programs in a narrative format. This document is one of the most important components of the application and should be prepared thoughtfully. It may be written in English or Spanish.

M.A. APPLICANTS

For applicants to the M.A. program, the statement should include a description of their undergraduate studies, their experiences with the Spanish language, Hispanic cultures, and any additional practical knowledge; which bear on their qualifications or interest in graduate studies. The narrative should state a clear indication of the reasons for pursuing a graduate degree. Applicants should describe their specific interests within the programs offered by the Division of Spanish and Portuguese within CMLL, and should indicate why they have chosen Texas Tech University. In addition, applicants should outline their future career plans in as much detail as possible. The M.A. is a professional degree, and applicants need to indicate why they are qualified to undertake this professional training and how they intend to use it in the future.

PH.D. APPLICANTS

The Ph.D. is a research-oriented degree that presupposes both the ability and the interest in undertaking sustained original research including publication, scholarly presentations, and teaching. Applicants to the Ph.D. program should outline their previous graduate studies with as much detail as possible. They should also describe their specific interests, including possible dissertation topics, collateral areas, and related research. To the extent possible, students should identify resources that might contribute to the success of their doctoral studies. In addition, they should justify the choice of Texas Tech University as the appropriate institution for their doctoral career. Finally, and most importantly, they should elaborate on their academic background and their abilities to conduct original in-depth research, and should describe their future professional plans and aspirations.

Language Interview

Applicants to our graduate program will be interviewed via Skype to establish an initial communication with the current graduate recruiters. The interview will cover a variety of topics (i.e. interest in our program and university, previous academic experience, etc.) in English and Spanish to determine language competency and suitability to our graduate program. This will also provide the applicant an opportunity to ask questions about our programs.
FINANCIAL SUPPORT

CMLL strives to offer financial support to promising graduate students enrolled in our programs via assistantships and instructorships. Support is often based on the typical academic year (fall-spring), and may include summer assignments (as long as CMLL opens enough undergraduate courses). Applications to be considered for financial support can be found on the respective graduate program pages. (Note: Enrollment in a CMLL graduate program is not an automatic guarantee of support.)

When financial support is offered, it is usually in the form of employment in one of two position types: Teaching Assistant (TA) or Graduate Part-time Instructor (GPTI).

A Teaching Assistant (TA) position is supportive in nature, both on the employment and professional development levels. Teaching Assistants typically provide support to a faculty member's instruction (completing a variety of duties), or may act as the leaders of discussion sections (which run in concert with large enrollment courses). Graduate students receive training, guidance, and mentoring on how to teach effectively in their discipline, manage a classroom, devise materials, and other important related tasks. A TA is not eligible to be the instructor of record for a course, and commonly has less than 18 graduate credit hours in the subject area being taught.

A Graduate Part-time Instructor (GPTI) is usually an instructor of record, meaning that the individual is generally responsible for the teaching and care of his or her own class(es). GPTI's also receive training, guidance and further professional development. As opportunities allow, advanced Graduate students (i.e. Ph.D. students and ABDs) may have the opportunity to teach upper level courses (beyond the lower-level "two-year" language sequence).

Funding Period for M.A. and Ph.D. Students

According to university policy, M.A. students may expect two academic years of support as a TA/GPTI. Each student needs to keep track of his/her own progress by filling out the form “M.A. Candidate Policy on Degree Progress and Funding” (See Appendix), and provide a copy to the Graduate Advisor at the end of each semester.

Ph.D. students may ordinarily expect four academic years of support as a GPTI after the M.A. degree or its equivalent. A fifth year of support may be granted, subject to satisfactory progress in the judgment of the graduate faculty, and with the approval of the Department Chair. In order to keep track of his/her own progress, each student will need to fill out the form “Ph.D. Candidate Policy on Degree Progress and Funding” (See Appendix), and provide a copy to the Graduate Advisor.
Stipend/Salary Requirements

All supported graduate students are expected to enroll full-time, and to maintain that enrollment successfully (i.e., 9 credit hours or more in long semesters, at least 3 hours or more during any summer session in which employed). There is also the expectation, unless carefully articulated in advance, that all course enrollment will be within CMLL. Dual or interdisciplinary programs, courses for a minor or the pursuit of a professional certification needs to be approved by the student's committee Chair and the Graduate Advisor.

Most Teaching Assistants and Graduate Part-time Instructors work at half-time (i.e., 50%), although exceptions occasionally occur. Continuous support as a TA or GPTI is contingent upon several factors, including academic performance, academic progress and teaching performance (See the Instructor's Handbook to comply with the teaching expectations).

Graduate Instructors selected to teach in our TTU Seville Center have all expenses paid (i.e. round-trip airfare, housing expenses and a stipend) during the summer session or the regular spring/fall semesters when they teach.

Note: An offer of employment with the department is not a "contract" with the University, or any other binding agreement. See TTU OP 70.31, part 2.

Stipend/Salary Ranges

The initial stipend a supported graduate student can expect depends on several factors: the educational level of the person, the academic program concerned (M.A./Ph.D.), professional experience, and the type of position actually assigned (these are usually all interconnected).

To obtain a copy of the most recent "Financial Planning Guide" for international graduate students, contact Carla Burrus (carla.burrus@ttu.edu).

Fee & Tuition Waivers

Students who have a 50% appointment in the department are eligible for certain fee waivers. CMLL Advisors can assist individual graduate students with forecasting how such fee and tuition waivers will reduce their cost.

Please also see the Graduate School Financial Information Web page for updated information on tuition and related costs at TTU: www.depts.ttu.edu/gradschool/funding
Health Insurance

Texas Tech University requires non-immigrant students to maintain the health, evacuation, and repatriation insurance offered through the university. For more information, visit: www.depts.ttu.edu/international/isss/f1/healthinsinfo.php

Scholarships and Fellowships

We encourage eligible students to take advantage of the excellent opportunities presented by the following scholarships and fellowships for graduate students:

- General Fellowships/Scholarships (See Appendix or click here to see the list). Applicants do not have to be officially admitted to a TTU graduate program when applying for our fellowships. Additionally, applying to the Graduate School does not automatically qualify applicants for our fellowships.

  There is only one application for all student-initiated Graduate School Scholarships and Fellowships. Deadlines are in the spring of each year for awards for the upcoming fall and spring semesters. Average awards range from $3,000–$5,000/yr. The application process is student-initiated, and there is only one application for all General Fellowships. Application period opens mid-November; deadline is mid-January. Awards are announced mid-March.

  Click here for the online application.

- Scholarships and Financial Assistance for International Students. Texas Tech offers several scholarships for International Students such as:

  - Florence Terry Griswold Scholarship. One award for $2,500 for a woman who is a citizen of a Pan American country (other than the United States). Check deadlines with the Office of International Affairs. Click here.

  - Good Neighbor Scholarship Program (Number and amount of scholarships vary). Awards are based on academic merit. International students from countries in the Caribbean and North, Central, and South America are welcome to apply. Check deadlines with the Office of International Affairs. Click here.

  - Tuition Assistance for Students of Mexico (Assistance amount varies). For citizens or permanent residents of Mexico. Deadline is always ten days prior to the start of each semester. Click here.

  - Study Abroad Competitive Scholarship (SACS). All international students are eligible to apply for the Study Abroad Competitive Scholarship program. Applications are due by a designated deadline. For international student awardees, the SACS may provide a certain monetary award for an appropriate academic term or summer session. Every TTU student pays the SACS fee every academic term that he or she is enrolled at Texas Tech University, and therefore, is eligible to apply each term. Interested students can get more information here.
Gertrude Cross Suppe Spanish/Music Scholarship Endowment. This scholarship is for undergraduate or graduate students who combine serious interests in music and Spanish. This might be evidenced by majoring in one area and minoring in the other. Preference will be given to applicants who wish to work with the Gertrude C. Suppe Collection of Hispanic church music.

The scholarship will be housed in, and maintained by, the Department of Classical and Modern Languages and Literatures. The scholarship will be awarded only in years where there are worthy applicants. For more information, click here.

The Grant-in-Aid Program. This program is for Texas Tech University graduate students who are in need of funds to successfully complete their research (thesis/dissertation or non-thesis based). Funds may only be used for expenses directly related to research (e.g., supplies, software, research-related training, etc.). Funds may not be used for tuition and fee purposes. It is anticipated that there will be two grant cycles during the academic year, one in the fall and one in the spring. The award range is expected to be $300-$500. Click here for details and the online application.

Doctoral Dissertation Completion Fellowship. These awards are designed to increase the completion rate of Ph.D. students and to enhance recruitment of new students. Recipients must be advanced to candidacy for the Ph.D. and expect to complete their dissertation during the year of their fellowship. Support will be available for up to 12 months to enable students to dedicate their time exclusively to dissertation research. The stipend level will be the equivalent of their current assistantship stipend, and it may be augmented from other sources.

Per CMLL policy, applicants must have the approval of their main dissertation advisor prior to applying.

Application opens December 1st; deadline is mid-February. Awardees are notified by early March. For the online application and further information, click here.

External Fellowship, Scholarships and Grants. External fellowships for graduate and postdoctoral studies are available from many organizations outside Texas Tech University, including state and federal agencies, private foundations, non-profit groups, and international organizations. A variety of support is offered, from one-time awards to multi-year support for living expenses, educational fees, conference travel and/or research for beginning to advanced graduate students and postdoctoral levels. In addition to helping fund your education, external grants and fellowships are a great academic honor and help distinguish your academic scholarship.

The Office of Graduate and Postdoctoral Fellowships will help you find and apply for fellowship opportunities that meet your needs. Click here for details, and here for resources.

Some examples of external funding are, but are not limited to:
- Fulbright-Hays Doctoral Dissertation Research Abroad Program (DDRA). The DDRA Program provides grants to colleges and universities to fund individual doctoral students who conduct research in other countries, in modern foreign languages and area studies for periods of six to 12 months. Click here for details.

- Harry Ransom Center. The Ransom Center encourages discovery, inspires creativity, and advances understanding of the humanities for a broad and diverse audience through the preservation and sharing of its extraordinary collections. Click here for details.

- The John Carter Brown Library fellowship program was created to give scholars from this country and abroad an opportunity to pursue their work in proximity to a distinguished collection of primary sources. Approximately forty fellowships are awarded each year for periods of two to ten months. The fellowship competition is open to any qualified researcher, the main criteria for appointment being the merit and significance of the candidate’s proposal, the qualifications of the candidate, and the relevance of the project to the holdings of the Library. The fellowship selection committees look closely at the potential shown by the candidate for creative utilization of the Library’s resources. For more information, click here.

CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT FOR TEACHING ASSISTANTS AND GRADUATE PART-TIME INSTRUCTORS

EXPECTATIONS:

As graduate instructors and teaching assistants you serve as role models for your students. CMLL encourages you to act in a professional manner in and outside the classroom. It is also expected that you will support the department, the faculty, and fellow graduate students by attending and helping to organize departmental functions such as lectures, workshops, conferences and cultural events. Such active participation enriches your intellectual life and professional preparation and contributes to the vital exchange of ideas within CMLL and the University as a whole.

Note. All instructors who are non-native English speakers must comply with the International Teaching Assistant Workshop and Special Interviews and successfully pass their language assessment requirements in order to be qualified to teach for CMLL.

GENERAL CONDITIONS:

Deviation from the rules stipulated here constitutes a breach of contract and may result in termination.

All Teaching Assistants/Instructors will:

- Teach the class assigned by the Director of Lower-Level Spanish (DLLS) or Department Chair and follow the class schedule as specified in the syllabus.
- Follow all guidelines and rules of the syllabus.
- Attend all meetings called by the Director of Lower-Level Spanish and/or Department Chair.
- Attend Orientation Week activities conducted at the beginning of each semester (usually during week before a semester begins).
- Enroll in LING 5322: Theoretical and Research Foundations of Language Teaching, during the first fall semester of employment at CMLL, regardless of prior teaching or methodology experience elsewhere.
- Keep at least 120 minutes office hours per week (including summer semester), post these hours on the Blackboard page and the respective announcement boards outside the instructor's office. Remember: Encourage your students to attend your office hours.
Keep office hours as posted, if office hours are changed, inform your supervisors, the coordination team or the DLLS. Communicate these changes to your students.

If sick, or otherwise unable to teach an assigned class, contact your substitute (available on Blackboard page: Instructor training) and the coordination team. Upon your return, fill in the absence form and take it to the Director of Lower-Level Spanish.

Follow any other rules or regulations set forth by the DLLS (in the Instructor Handbook), the Coordination Team, the CMLL Chair, and the Spanish Graduate Advisor.

Graduate Instructors must maintain a minimum of 9 credit hours of approved graduate courses for the entire duration of the term for which the assistantship is awarded. Any change of registration which a) causes the total number of hours to drop below this minimum, or b) has not been appropriately approved by the Graduate Advisor may result in an immediate revocation of the teaching assistantship.

If you have difficulties with a student consult the Director of Lower-Level Spanish.
TEACHING FOR THE SPANISH HERITAGE LANGUAGE PROGRAM

Since the fall semester of 2014, CMLL has offered a series of courses specifically designed with the Spanish heritage language learner in mind. Spanish heritage language learners are students who grow up speaking Spanish (or perhaps just listening to it) at home but whose dominant language is clearly English. With this initiative, CMLL joins a growing number of departments across the country that recognize the different needs of the heritage speaker population as opposed to those of the more traditional second language learner population.

The ultimate goal of our program is to provide a supportive and effective learning environment that not only considers the bilingual/bicultural background of our diverse student body but that also fosters and encourages its development. We hope to meet their specific needs by exploring topics related to their own cultural backgrounds and by offering exciting learning opportunities both inside and outside the classroom.

Every Spring semester, we will select two students to shadow our classes for bilingual/heritage students during the following semester. After successfully shadowing our courses for a semester, each selected student will be considered to be ready to teach this class in future semesters. Selected instructors will be expected to:

- shadow the current courses for at least 12 class periods;
- attend weekly meetings;
- play an active role in the preparation of teaching materials and exams as well as in grading a number of assignments;

Students interested in this teaching opportunity must submit a one-page description of why they want to teach Spanish courses for heritage speakers and a copy of their CV before the semester starts. Email your application dossier to Dr. Diego Pascual.

Applications will be evaluated by a committee using the following criteria (where applicable):

1. Quality of written proposal
2. Academic standing
3. Prior teaching experience
DEPARTMENTAL TERMINATION POLICY

CMLL is committed to providing reasonable expectations of continued support to our graduate instructors. CMLL also is committed to provide training and mentoring that will enable TAs and GPTIs to perform their duties in a satisfactory manner.

Nevertheless, on occasion problems with TA/GPTI performance may be sufficiently severe that termination becomes necessary.

1) GROUNDS FOR TERMINATION MAY INCLUDE, BUT ARE NOT LIMITED TO:

   a) Insufficient English proficiency.
   b) Failure to teach material.
   c) Failure to meet class.
   d) Failure to keep appropriate records.
   e) Failure to carry out TA/GPTI Supervisor's instructions.
   f) Arbitrary or capricious grading practices.
   g) Persistently low teaching evaluations or other evidence of not teaching to an acceptable standard.
   h) Failure to enroll in and complete LING 5322 or other pedagogy courses when required the first time they are offered after employment commences.
   i) Refusal to complete required courses or workshops.
   j) Failure to participate satisfactorily in training sessions.
   k) Sexual harassment.
   l) Other inappropriate conduct. For further examples, see TTU O.P. 70.31.
   m) Unsatisfactory progress towards the degree or performance as a graduate student.

Students are encouraged to take advantage of the mentoring, supervising, monitoring, and systematic pedagogical training opportunities as TAs and GPTIs. CMLL is committed to provide such mentoring, supervising, monitoring, and systematic pedagogical training including workshops and requiring enrollment in LING 5322 or other appropriate pedagogy courses that may be required.

PORTUGUESE PROGRAM

The Luso-Brazilian languages, literatures and cultures share many similarities with those of Spanish America. Graduate students in Spanish should consider minoring in Portuguese at the M.A. or the Ph.D. levels considering the many options this minor would allow them in a competitive job market. In addition, coursework in Portuguese will enhance students' understanding and appreciation of all Latin America and the Iberian Peninsula.

At the M.A. level, a minor in Portuguese is obtained by taking 6 hours of coursework (PORT 5341 and PORT 5342). If Portuguese is an M.A. exam area, 9 hours of coursework are required.

Portuguese Minor at the M.A. and Ph.D. Levels Curriculum

M.A. Minor: 6-9 Hours of coursework
Ph.D. Minor: 15-18 Hours of coursework

PORT 5341: Intensive Portuguese for Graduate Students I
PORT 5342: Intensive Portuguese for Graduate Students II
PORT 5355: Readings in Luso-Brazilian Literature: Advanced topics in Luso-Brazilian literatures. May be repeated up to 12 credit hours with different content.
PORT 7000: Research. May be repeated up to 6 credit hours with different content.
The Romance Languages M.A. in Spanish

Texas Tech University offers the Romance Language M.A. in Spanish with two tracks: Hispanic Literature and Spanish Linguistics. Students are encouraged to minor in Portuguese by taking two graduate level courses in two consecutive semesters. Financial assistance is provided by the CMLL department via assistantships and instructorships to promising graduate students enrolled in our programs. Support is often based on the typical academic year (fall-spring), and may include summer assignments as long as students remain in good standing.

Degree Description

The Romance Language M.A. in Spanish is offered in two tracks: Hispanic Literature and Spanish Linguistics. The M.A. is offered under Option I: Thesis, and Option II: Coursework/Non-Thesis. The Thesis option requires 30 hours of coursework + 6 thesis hours, the Master's examinations (in two areas) and a thesis. The Coursework Option requires 36 hours of coursework and the Master's examinations (in three areas). All coursework counted toward the M.A. credit requirements must be in courses approved by the Department at the 5000-level or above.

1. Hispanic Literature Track (30-36 hours)

18-21 hours must come from Spanish American and Peninsular Spanish courses (See "Degree Plan Forms") from different time periods.

Required courses:

LING 5322 — Theoretical and Research Foundations of Second Language Teaching, for all current and prospect TAs/ GPTIs (Fall).
SPAN 5301 — Writing for the Profession.
SPAN 5354 — Hispanic Literary Concepts (for incoming M.A. students with no prior Spanish literature courses at the undergraduate level, and at the discretion of the Graduate Studies Director).
SPAN 53XX — One Spanish Linguistics course

Other areas: 3-6 hours of elective courses such as:

SPAN 5345: History of the Spanish Language
SPAN 5381: Hispanic Literature of the Southwest/Mexican Literature (1821-1848)/ Mexican-American Literature (1821-1848)
SPAN 5355: Seminar in Hispanic Literature (1 course max.)

SPAN 6000: M.A. Research (for Thesis Option only)
SPAN 7000: Independent Study (Seville)
2. Spanish Linguistics Track (30-36 hours)

18-21 hours must come from the core courses designated as Spanish Linguistics and/or Second Language Acquisition sections (See "Degree Plan Forms").

Required courses:

LING 5322 — Theoretical and Research Foundations of Language Teaching (for all TAs/GPTIs. Encouraged for all others)*
SPAN 5340 — Spanish Language & Linguistics (Intro)
SPAN 5343 — Studies in Spanish as a L2 (Part 1&2)
SPAN 53XX — One Spanish Literature course

Other courses:

SPAN 6000 MA Thesis (Up to 6 credits)
SPAN 7000 Independent Study (Seville)

3. Minor

A Minor at the M.A. is optional. Any minor consists of 6 hours of coursework as part of the 30-36 hours for the degree. Should the student choose to be evaluated in the minor area in the M.A. exams; he/she may take up to 9 hours of coursework. A student can choose a minor in consultation with the Graduate Studies Director or his/her committee of studies' chair.

Recommended minors:

- Portuguese
- Applied Linguistics
- Comparative Literature
- Medieval and Renaissance Studies
- Women's Studies
- Classics, Greek or Latin
- English as a Second Language
- German, French or Russian
Language Requirements for the M.A. Degree

All M.A. candidates must possess reading knowledge of a third language other than English or Spanish. This requirement can be met in one of the following ways:

a. Students may fulfill the reading knowledge requirement by passing with a grade of C or better the second course of the sophomore sequence of the required language. Intensive language courses at the graduate level are usually offered in the summer sessions. Students that complete Summer I and Summer II of a particular language at the graduate level can waive this requirement.

b. Passing a standardized examination. Consult with the advisor in the Department of Classical and Modern Languages and Literatures for proficiency exams furnished by the department or the Educational Testing Service. Arrangements for these examinations should be made in the applicable unit. The CMLL faculty in charge will provide test results using a "Foreign Language Requirement for the M.A. Degree Form" (See Appendix). Arrangements for testing for other foreign languages will be approved by the graduate dean.

DEGREE PLANS FOR THE M.A. STUDENT

After admission to a degree program, every applicant for the Master's degree is required to complete and submit one copy of a degree plan form to the Graduate School for approval before the second semester of enrollment in the program. See the Graduate School form in the Appendix.

To help students keep track of the requirements of our program and the general university requirements, please follow the guidelines of the form applicable to your degree in the following pages. Using this form may answer many questions before visiting with the current Graduate Advisor.

THE M.A. THESIS OPTION

M.A. candidates in Spanish have the option of writing a Master’s thesis in lieu of 6 hours of graduate coursework. Students taking the thesis option will still take two areas of the Master’s examinations. There are both pros and cons to writing a M.A. thesis: for some students, the additional coursework is vital, while for others, the ideas developed in a Master’s thesis may serve as a nucleus for a doctoral dissertation or may have practical applications. Students interested in pursuing the thesis option should consult the Spanish Graduate Advisor by the end of their second semester in their M.A. program.

All M.A. theses in literature shall use the style sheet of the Modern Language Association of America (MLA). All M.A. theses in linguistics shall use the style sheet of the Linguistic Society of America (LSA), as exemplified in its journal Language. Consult the Texas Tech Graduate School website for additional information on thesis preparation and format.

Students doing a thesis must turn in to the Graduate Advisor a Thesis Declaration form one month into the students third semester (See "Thesis Declaration Form" below).

Once a student has registered for thesis hours (SPAN 6000) they must continue to take thesis hours every semester (including one summer session) until they have completed the thesis and turned it in to the Office of Graduate Studies.

THE M.A. EXAMS

The Master’s examination is designed to test the students’ ability to demonstrate extensive knowledge of the assigned texts, apply critical skills in the analysis of those texts and organize and write coherent, substantial essays in Spanish.

M.A. students must take courses in as many areas of specialization as possible before choosing their exam areas.

For literature students, the areas of specialization are:
1. Medieval Literature
2. Golden Age Spanish Literature
3. 18th & 19th-Century Peninsular Literature
4. 20th & 21st-Century Peninsular Literatures
5. Colonial Literature
6. 19th-Century Spanish American Literature
7. Spanish American Modernism and early 20th-Century Literature
8. 20th & 21st-Century Spanish America in Literature
9. Chicano/US Latino Literature/ Portuguese

M.A. Thesis students select two exam areas: one from the Peninsular Group, and one from the Spanish American Group, and complete the Thesis project.

Non-M.A. Thesis students select three exam areas: one from the Peninsular Group, one from the Spanish American Group and one from another area (See "Other areas" in the curriculum above).

For linguistics students, the exam areas are:
1. Second Language Acquisition (Required for all M.A. Students) + one additional area from the list below for Thesis Option, or two additional areas from the list below for Non-Thesis Option:
   2. Applied Linguistics & SLA
   3. Sociolinguistics and Dialectology
   4. History of the Spanish Language
   5. Phonetics and Phonology
   6. Morphology and Syntax

The Thesis Option

After successfully completing 18 hours of coursework, the student must form his/her thesis committee (usually by the end of the second semester). A thesis committee consists of three members, including the committee chair, who will be the student’s major supervising professor. The chair must be a tenured or tenure-track member of the Spanish and Portuguese Division. The student, in consultation with the committee chair, selects the remaining committee members and chooses a tentative topic for the Master's thesis. The thesis topic may be chosen from any of the fields in literature or linguistics. The M.A. thesis proposal must be submitted by the end of the third semester to the committee members (See M.A. Thesis proposal guidelines below). After completing the required coursework, degree candidates must take two comprehensive exams and complete a Master’s thesis. Literature students will select the two exam areas from number 1-9 above. For Linguistic students, the SLA area (1) is required for the M.A. degree. In addition, thesis students must select an additional area from numbers 2-5 above.

The Non-Thesis Option

After completing 18 hours of coursework, the student must select the three areas in which he/she will be tested. He/she will also select three graduate faculty members who will form his/her M.A. exams committee, one of which will be the committee chair. Each committee member will create his/her portion of the comprehensive exam. For Literature students, the three exams will include: One Peninsular literature area, one Spanish American Literature area and a third area from numbers 1-9 of the literature areas of specialization listed above. The third area could also be a minor in a third language (i.e. Portuguese, French, etc.) or a Spanish linguistics area (in which case it would be the SLA area). For Linguistic students, the SLA area (1) is required for the M.A. degree. In addition, non-thesis students must select two additional Linguistics areas from numbers 2-5 above.

Scheduling of the M.A. Exams

Exams will ordinarily be given during the fourth semester of the student's M.A. courses. Financial support (four semesters) is dependent on timely completion of the degree. Exams must not be postponed more than one semester beyond the fourth. Part-time students must complete the exams by the semester following the last course that counts toward the degree. Postponements will be granted only for unusual and extenuating circumstances.

The student must inform the Graduate advisor in writing, 8-10 weeks in advance of the day set for the exam of his/her intention to take the M.A. exams, the names of the three committee members and the areas in which he/she will be examined and the area in which he/she will write the thesis (for Thesis Option students).

All M.A. students must fill out the form “Letter of Intent to take the M.A. Exams” from our graduate academic assistant and have it signed by the Graduate Advisor (See Appendix).

Exams will be given three times yearly:

- The second Monday in October (December graduation)
- The first Monday after spring break (May graduation), and
- The first Monday in June (August graduation).

Exact dates will be determined at the beginning of each semester according to the current academic calendar. Any exceptions will require special permission from the graduate faculty.
Logistics

For Thesis Option students, the written portion of the two exams will be administered over a six-hour period (three hours per exam) during the scheduled date at the CMLL Language Laboratory. The thesis defense and M.A. exam will be given a few days following the written exams (no later than two weeks) at the discretion of the student's committee prior to the deadline set by the graduate school. The committee will meet then with the M.A. candidate, who will defend his/her thesis and will answer questions about the thesis and the content of the exams. It will be desirable that the student establishes connections between his/her thesis topic and critical approaches and the other areas in which he/she is to be examined.

For Non-Thesis Option students, the written portion of the three exams will be administered over a nine-hour period (three hours per exam) during the scheduled dates. The student will take two exams on the first day (Exam 1: morning, and Exam 2: afternoon), and one exam on the second day (Exam 3: either morning or afternoon) during the Language Laboratory schedule.

Oral Exam

After grading the written exams, the committee will decide if: 1) The exam is passed with no oral exam, or 2) The exam needs to be defended orally. If the oral exam is deemed necessary, the oral exam must be scheduled at the discretion of the committee as soon as possible following the written exam, but no later than ten class days.

In either case, the committee chairperson will be responsible for directing the thesis (for the Thesis Option), organizing and administering the exam, and reporting the results to the Graduate Dean, the student, and the Spanish Graduate Advisor. The M.A. candidate must pass both written and oral exams, and for the Thesis Option, the thesis must be approved in order for the student to earn the M.A. degree. If one area is not approved, the student will have to re-take that area after a period of at least four months and no later than twelve months. If the student fails two or more areas, the student will have to be re-examined in all three areas after a period of at least four months and no later than twelve months. The chair will notify the Dean of the Graduate School using the M.A. Comprehensive Exam Report from their website (See Appendix). If the student does not pass all three areas in the second examination, no degree will be granted.
THE M.A. EXAM COMMITTEE FORM

1. The Committee should be named by the end of the first year of M.A. Program.
2. Select a chair of the committee (chair is student's major supervising professor)
3. A Committee consists of at least 3 members, including chair.

II. The PROPOSAL text should include, in the following order:

(a) Full Working Title

(b) Abstract or thesis statement: The abstract is limited to 350 words in length, on the central problem(s) and major aims of the study. What preliminary results have been found?

(c) Significance: What contributions will the thesis make to the particular area of study and to Hispanic studies in general? What are the broader implications of this project for the Humanities in general?

(d) Background: How is your project unique? Include a concise review of the most important literature on the proposed topic(s), method(s), and theoretical approaches of the study.

(e) Data/ Sources: An overview of the primary and secondary sources to be investigated. Indicate what data have been collected, what sources consulted, and what field contacts made to date (if appropriate).

(f) Methodology/ Theory: What methods of analysis will be employed? What working hypotheses will inform these analyses?

(g) Pilot study: where applicable, include the results of a pilot study to illustrate how the analysis will be conducted and what the possible results are (For Linguistics Students)

(h) Plan: Outline the probable chapters with a brief notion of what is to be included in each.

(i) Timetable: Design a 6 to 12-month feasibility projection indicating the progress of your research and writing. How can this project be realistically completed in the time allotted?

III. SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY

For the Literature concentration: A list of published sources that are most pertinent to the proposed study (archival, manuscript, and field sources will be described under “Data” above). The entries should be divided into topic areas, and presented in a form consistent with the MLA citation style.

For the Linguistics concentration: A list of all sources cited in the paper. This should be a comprehensive review of the literature in the field. They should be presented in a form consistent with APA citation style.

ELIGIBILITY FOR THE DOCTORAL PROGRAM

Successful completion of the Master's exam does not guarantee automatic acceptance into the doctoral program. The Master's committee will evaluate the student's examination and recommend in favor of either a terminal M.A. or of eligibility to continue. This assessment will become part of the student's file in the department. If the student wishes to apply for admission to the doctoral program, the Spanish graduate faculty will evaluate the Master's committee's assessment as well as the student's annual review and other factors. If the evaluation is favorable, the student may be accepted in the doctoral program. If the evaluation is unfavorable, a terminal Master's degree will be granted.
The Ph.D. in Spanish

The doctoral program in Spanish requires both greater breadth of study than the M.A. program and greater concentration in the area selected for specialization. To fulfill these requirements the student must demonstrate a reasonable comprehensive knowledge of literature and the ability to engage in original research.

Texas Tech University offers the Ph.D. degree at CMLL with major concentrations in Hispanic literature and Spanish linguistics. Financial assistance is provided via assistantships and instructorships to promising graduate students enrolled in our programs. Support is often based on the typical academic year (Fall-Spring), and may include summer assignments as long as the department has enough opened sections.

All prospective Ph.D. candidates must hold the M.A. in Spanish or an equivalent degree from another country.

Admission to the Ph.D. program in Spanish at Texas Tech is selective, and all applicants are required to follow the same procedures.

Degree Description

Candidates for the Ph.D. in Spanish (Linguistics or Literature) must complete at least 60 hours of graduate coursework. Students that have obtained a Romance Language M.A. in Spanish at CMLL may count all hours earned at the Master's level with a B or better with the exception of some courses. Literature M.A. to Ph.D. students count all courses with a B or better except SPAN 5301: Writing for the Profession, SPAN 5354: Hispanic Literary Concepts and LING 5322: Theoretical and Research Foundations of Second Language Teaching). Linguistics M.A. to Ph.D. students count all courses with a B or better except LING 5322. Hours earned at the M.A. level from a previous institution are applicable and graduate students may transfer up to 21 hours of credit maximum, at the discretion of the Spanish Graduate Advisor.

The Graduate School does not require a formal minor. However, the student may pursue a minor or one may be required by the student's advisory committee. If a minor is taken, it must include at least 15 graduate hours in a program outside the student’s major (counted towards the 60 hours). The minor will be declared in the student’s doctoral degree plan. If a minor is taken, the major requires a minimum of 45 semester hours.

If a formal minor is declared, it must be represented on the student’s doctoral committee and must be covered on the doctoral examination. If no minor is selected, students can take all the necessary credits within the Spanish program.

The student must satisfy the preliminary examination requirement, pass qualifying examinations, and prepare and defend a dissertation to be admitted to candidacy.
1. Hispanic Literature Track (60 hours)

At least 45 hours of Hispanic literature courses from different periods and genres of Spanish American and Peninsular Spanish courses (See the literature curriculum above) are needed.

Required courses:

LING 5322 — Theoretical and Research Foundations of Language Teaching*
SPAN 5301 — Writing for the Profession*
SPAN 5352 — Methods of Literary Criticism
SPAN 53XX — Any Spanish Linguistics course

* Ph.D. students that have taken these courses at the M.A. level at CMLL do not need to re-take them unless they want a grade change.

Other areas:

3-6 hours of elective courses such as:
SPAN 5355: Seminar in Spanish Literature (Latin America, Peninsular or Transatlantic),
SPAN 5345: History of the Spanish Language
SPAN 5381: Hispanic Literature of the Southwest/Mexican Literature (1821-1848) / Mexican-American Literature (1821-1848)

SPAN 7000 Independent Study (Seville)
SPAN 8000 Dissertation Hours (ABD Students)

Language Requirement:

Ph.D. students must also possess reading knowledge of two languages other than English and Spanish. See "Language Requirement for the Ph.D. degree" below. A minor in a language other than Spanish and English waives this requirement.

2. Spanish Linguistics Track (60 hours)

At least 45 hours must come from the core courses designated as Spanish Linguistics and/or Second Language Acquisition sections.

Required courses:

LING 5322 — Theoretical and Research Foundations of Language Teaching*
SPAN 5343 (2) — Studies in Spanish as a L2 (Part 1&2)*
SPAN 53XX — One Spanish Literature course
EPSY 5380 Quantitative Analysis
EPSY 5382 Qualitative Analysis
* Students that have taken this course at the M.A. level at CMLL do not need to re-take it at the Ph.D. level unless they want a grade change.

Other areas:

SPAN 7000  Independent Study (Seville)
SPAN 8000  Dissertation Hours (ABD Students)

Language Requirement:

Ph.D. students must also possess reading knowledge of two languages other than English and Spanish. See "Language Requirement for the Ph.D. degree" below. A minor in a language other than Spanish and English waives this requirement.

3. Minor

A Minor at the Ph.D. level is optional, but encouraged. Any minor consists of 15-18 hours of coursework as part of the 60 hours for the degree. A student can choose a minor in consultation with the Graduate Studies Director or his/her committee of studies’ chair.

Recommended Minors:

- Portuguese
- Applied Linguistics
- Comparative Literature
- Medieval and Renaissance Studies
- Women's Studies
- Classics, Greek or Latin
- English Linguistics
- German, French or Russian
Language Requirements for the Ph.D. Degree

All Ph.D. candidates must possess reading knowledge of two languages other than English and Spanish. This requirement can be met in one of the following ways:

a. Students may fulfill the reading knowledge requirement by passing with a grade of C or better the second course of the sophomore sequence of the required languages. Intensive language courses at the graduate level are usually offered in the summer sessions. Students that complete Summer I and Summer II of a two languages other than Spanish and English at the graduate level can waive this requirement.

b. Passing a standardized examination for each language. Consult with the advisor in the Department of Classical and Modern Languages and Literatures for proficiency exams furnished by the department or the Educational Testing Service. Arrangements for these examinations should be made in the applicable unit. The CMLL faculty in charge will provide test results using a "Foreign Language Requirement for the Ph.D. Degree Form" (See Appendix). Arrangements for testing for other foreign languages will be approved by the graduate dean.

c. Students that minor in a third language other than English and Spanish are waived from the two languages requirement.

DEGREE PLANS FOR THE Ph.D. STUDENT

After admission to a degree program, every applicant for the Ph.D. degree is required to complete and submit one copy of a degree plan form to the Graduate School for approval before the second semester of enrollment in the program. See the Graduate School form in the Appendix.

To help students keep track of the requirements of our program and the general university requirements, please follow the guidelines of the form applicable to your degree in the following pages. Using this form may answer many questions before visiting with the current Graduate Advisor.

THE Ph.D. CANDIDACY PROCESS

Establishing the Ph.D. Committee(s)

Upon admission to the Ph.D. program, a student will begin planning his/her studies under the advice of the Graduate Studies Advisor. By the second semester, the student should begin planning to form his/her respective exam and dissertation committees. A dissertation committee consists of at least three members, including the committee chair, who will be the student’s supervising professor. The chair must be a tenured or tenure-track member of the Spanish and Portuguese Division. The student, in consultation with the committee chair, selects the remaining committee members and chooses a tentative topic for the dissertation.

Also in consultation with the committee chair, the student will select an exam committee (which may be different from the dissertation committee). When a student selects a minor as part of the Ph.D., he/she must be examined on the minor area and thus a faculty member from this area must form a part of the comprehensive exam committee. The following form/s must be turned in by the end of the first year in the doctoral program to the Graduate Advisor and to the academic graduate assistant.

Planning the Ph.D. Exam

In the semester prior to taking the Ph.D. comprehensive exams, the student should arrange to meet with the doctoral committee to review reading lists and details of the exam format. Together, they should decide the exam dates (within the deadlines stipulated below), fill out the form "Letter of Intent to take the Ph.D. Exams" from our graduate academic assistant and have it signed by the Graduate Advisor (See Appendix). A copy will be kept with the Graduate Advisor and another one will be placed in the student’s file.
Spanish & Portuguese Program

THE Ph.D. EXAM COMMITTEE FORM

1. The Committee should be named by the end of the first year of Ph.D. Program.
2. Select a chair of the committee (chair is student's supervising professor)
3. A Committee consists of at least 3 members, including chair.

EXTERNAL MEMBER FOR THE COMMITTEE OF STUDIES

Students writing an MA Thesis or a PhD dissertation occasionally need to have an external member as part of their committee. If this member is outside of Texas Tech, the process to request permission from the Graduate School is as follows:

1. The student's dissertation advisor initiates the request by emailing Dr. David Doerfert (david.doerfert@ttu.edu) Associate Dean. The email must state a reason for adding an external member and include this member's credentials and current CV.
2. The Associate Dean will review this petition and reply directly to the dissertation advisor.
3. The student must notify of the outcome to the Spanish Graduate Advisor.
THE DISSERTATION PROPOSAL

During the final semester of coursework, the student may register for a 7000 course in addition to the required courses for his/her degree plan or his/her status as a GPTI. The purpose of taking a 7000 course this semester is to give the student time to prepare his/her dissertation proposal before taking the written exams the following semester. The dissertation proposal should be at least 20-25 pages along with a working bibliography and methodology. It must be turned in to all the dissertation committee members at the end of that semester. The dissertation proposal defense will be scheduled after the written exams.

A dissertation proposal provides an overview of the proposed plan of work, including the general scope of the project, the basic research questions, research methodology, and the overall significance of the study. It should be written in a grant application-style submitted to a review board of scholars not necessarily working in the same area, but with broad research interests in the Humanities. The writing should be straightforward, spare, and substantiated with carefully selected examples and citations that support your own project ideas.

It must fall within the parameters stated below and be presented in the following order:

I. COVER SHEET. The cover sheet model below should be completely filled out and accompany the proposal when turned into the dissertation committee.

II. PROPOSAL: 20-25 double-spaced pages (approx. 8,000 words).

III. SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY: At least 3 pages of single-spaced entries with one line between each entry. (The MLA or APA styles SHOULD BE STRICTLY FOLLOWED.)

II. The PROPOSAL text should include, in the following order:

(a) Full Working Title

(b) Abstract or thesis statement: The abstract is limited to 350 words in length, on the central problem(s) and major aims of the study. What preliminary results have been found?

(c) Significance: What contributions will the dissertation make to the particular area of study and to Hispanic studies in general? What are the broader implications of this project for the Humanities in general?

(d) Background: How is your project unique? Include a concise review of the most important literature on the proposed topic(s), method(s), and theoretical approaches of the study (including recent dissertations).

(e) Data/ Sources: An overview of the primary and secondary sources to be investigated. Indicate what data have been collected, what sources consulted, and what field contacts made to date (if appropriate).

(f) Methodology/ Theory: What methods of analysis will be employed? What working hypotheses will inform these analyses?

(g) Pilot study: where applicable, include the results of a pilot study to illustrate how the analysis will be conducted and what the possible results are (For Linguistics students)

(h) Plan: Outline the probable chapters with a brief notion of what is to be included in each.

(i) Timetable: Design a 6-, 12-, or 18-month feasibility projection indicating the progress of your research and writing. How can this project be realistically completed in the time allotted?

III. SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY

For the Literature concentration: A list of published sources pertinent to the proposed study (archival, manuscript, and field sources will be described under “Data” above). The entries should be divided into topic areas, and presented in a form consistent with the MLA citation style.

For the Linguistics concentration: A list of all sources cited in the paper. This should be a comprehensive review of the literature in the field. They should be presented in a form consistent with the APA citation style.
THE PH.D. EXAMS

Overview

The doctoral exams provide the student with the opportunity to demonstrate and integrate comprehensive knowledge of chosen fields of specialization, as well as to demonstrate his/her preparedness to enter candidacy and begin the process of researching and writing the dissertation.

Doctoral students must take courses in as many areas outside of their exam areas, but within their main field of studies as possible.

The Ph.D. examination is divided into: the written exams in the areas of specialization and minor (if one is previously declared), the oral exam(s) and the dissertation proposal defense.

The Written Exams

The written exams will be taken after the completion of all requirements on the degree plan. Exams must be scheduled to take place during a period when the student is enrolled (regular semesters or summer sessions).

Graduate students may take additional credits of 7000 courses the semester they are taking their exams, but this semester will count as part of their allowed funding period.

In order to comply with the university deadlines, Ph.D. exams will be given during:

- The first two weeks in October.
- The two weeks following Spring break.
- Summer term examinations depend on the availability of the committee.

Note: In order to become ABDs by the beginning of the Fall semester (for the academic calendar year), doctoral students must take their exams in the Spring or the Summer terms, with the committee's approval.

Areas of Specialization Exams—Literature

1. Dissertation area: The student and committee chair will draw up an individualized reading list related to the dissertation project, including the works of the author(s) in question, relevant critical/theoretical sources and secondary bibliography.

2. ONE area from the Peninsular Literature Group (Medieval, Golden Age, 18th-19th-Centuries and, 20-21st Centuries).

3. ONE area from the Spanish American Literature Group (Colonial, 19th-Century, Modernism, 20th-21st-Centuries Spanish American Literature, Chicano/Latino literature).
4. A minor chosen in consultation with the dissertation Committee Chairperson and Graduate Studies Advisor. If a minor is not selected, the fourth exam is a fourth literature area.

Areas of Specialization Exams—Linguistics

1. Dissertation area: The student and committee chair will draw up an individualized reading list presenting the dissertation project, including the works of the author(s) in question, relevant critical/theoretical sources and secondary bibliography.

2. ONE area from Second Language Acquisition.

3. ONE area from other Spanish Linguistics focus.

4. A minor chosen in consultation with the Dissertation Committee Chairperson and Graduate Studies Director. If a minor is not selected, the fourth exam is a fourth linguistics area.

Reading Lists

The student will develop his/her reading lists in consultation with the exam committee members. The Master's Exam reading list for the areas chosen by the student does not constitute the list for the doctoral exam, although it may be used as the basis for an expanded list in each area. The student should make sure that the committee chair and members have a final copy of the reading lists well in advance of the exam dates.

Administration of the Exams

The committee chair:

1) Arranges dates, times, and areas of written exams with student; exams must be scheduled to take place during the dates provided above.

2) Collects questions in envelopes corresponding to the days and topics of the exams.

3) Leaves questions with the staff member in charge who will also reserve rooms for the exam.

4) Distributes copies of answers to committee members.

5) Schedules and chairs oral exam (see below).

6) Informs the Graduate School of the exam results immediately upon completion.

The student:

1) Agrees upon date and time of written exams with the committee chair.

2) Makes arrangements with chair about special needs.

3) Turns in exam to the secretary before 5:00 P.M.
The committee members:
1) Submit questions.
2) Evaluate written exams.
3) Participate in oral exam.

Exams Logistics

Electronic equipment, backpacks, purses, books, notes, etc., are not allowed in the exam room.

Written examinations

The student may write the exams on four separate days (which may or may not be consecutive) during a two-week period, taking up to a maximum of eight hours each day.

A student who fails only one section of the written exams will be required to repeat that section. If two or more sections of the written exam are failed, the entire set of comprehensive examinations must be repeated and passed. The committee chair will inform the Dean of the Graduate School of the results. The student will be allowed to repeat the exam no sooner than four months and no later than twelve months after the failed exam. A second failure of any part or of all of the written exams terminates the student's candidacy in the department.

If any (or all) of the written answers are not satisfactory, the student will be examined orally as well. All exams must be graded as passing by the committee members before the dissertation defense can take place.

The Oral Exam(s) and Dissertation Proposal Defense

The exam committee will decide if: 1) All parts of the written exam are passed with no oral exams, or 2) One or more sections of the exams need to be defended orally. If oral exams are deemed necessary, the student will have a 1-1.5 hours oral examination in the format of a formal interview, and based on the written exam contents.

If no oral exams are needed, the student will defend his/her dissertation proposal in front of the dissertation committee members. All the oral examinations must be scheduled at the discretion of the committee a few days following the written exam (Deadlines established in the TTU Academic Calendar).

All exams, written and oral, must be passed; and the dissertation proposal approved before the committee recommends the student be admitted to candidacy to the Graduate School.
Application for Doctoral Candidacy

After a successful comprehensive exam process, the committee will fill out the form "Qualifying Exam Report" from the Graduate School website (See Appendix). All forms are given to the departmental graduate academic assistant to be forwarded to the Graduate School. A copy should be provided to the Graduate Advisor.

Important: Changes in Dissertation Topic/ Changes on Dissertation Committees

After the exams, any and all changes (including changes in dissertation topic, reconstitution of the committee, or change of dissertation director) will require consent of the committee chairs and the graduate advisor, and may require that the candidate be examined over other areas.

Students that change committees must fill out the "Form for Reporting Changes of Thesis/Dissertation Title and Committee" from the graduate school website (See Appendix).
THE Ph.D. DISSERTATION

There are no firm guidelines for the minimum or maximum length (in pages) for a doctoral dissertation in literature or linguistics. However, a survey of recent dissertations from comparable programs, particularly dissertations which are well received and whose authors have obtained satisfactory employment, suggests that dissertations containing substantially fewer than 200 pages are in the minority. Similarly, few dissertations in this category contain more than 400 pages.¹

All Ph.D. dissertations in literature shall use the style sheet of the Modern Language Association of America (MLA). All Ph.D. dissertations in linguistics shall use the style sheet of the American Psychological Association (APA). Students should consult with their chair to ensure that the proper formatting style is used for their topic. Consult the Texas Tech University Catalog and the Graduate School website for additional information on dissertation preparation and formatting.

ABD Report of Progress on Dissertation

All ABD (All But Dissertation) students enrolled in 8000-dissertation hours must fill out the form "Report of Progress on Dissertation" below at the end of each regular semester (Spring/Fall).

Once the supervising professor’s grade and remarks have been added, a copy will be placed in the student's file, another copy will be kept by the supervising professor and the Graduate Advisor. The student will also receive a copy for his/her records. If this form is not submitted by the last day of each semester, a grade of NCR for the dissertation hours may result.

ABD Report of Progress on Dissertation

This form is to be filled out each semester by students enrolled in 8000-dissertation hours. A copy will be placed in your file, another copy will be kept by your supervising professor, and you will receive a copy for your records once the supervising professor’s grade and remarks have been added. If this form is not submitted by the last day of each semester, a grade of NCR for the dissertation hours will result. The Spanish program follows the policies of the Graduate School office regarding the doctoral progress report on the dissertation.

THE DISSERTATION DEFENSE

After all members of the Dissertation Committee are satisfied that the dissertation is in acceptable final form, the dissertation is presented at an oral defense with the presence of a Dean's representative. The defense is publicly announced and is open to all interested observers. The purpose of the defense is to allow the candidate to answer specific queries concerning the work presented in the dissertation, to elaborate on points requested by members of the Dissertation Committee or other observers, and to make any additional comments or observations deemed appropriate. It is important that the defense not be scheduled until all members of the dissertation committee have read and approved all parts of the dissertation. Under no circumstances should a defense be scheduled while the candidate is still actively working on the dissertation, and that the necessary additions and improvements can be made after the defense.

The defense must be scheduled to take place before the Office of Graduate Studies filing deadline, and a complete draft of the dissertation (which must include all of the following: Table of contents, introduction, all chapters, conclusion, and complete bibliography) must be received by all Dissertation Committee members at least one month prior to the earliest possible date a defense may be scheduled. All material must be turned into the Graduate School in order for the student to graduate. There will be no exceptions to these deadlines.

SEVILLE TEACHING APPOINTMENT AWARD

This teaching appointment is a good opportunity for graduate students to experience teaching in a study abroad context. Unlike on-campus teaching, study abroad involves having a sound teaching experience and effectiveness at TTU, understanding students’ needs when living abroad, raising students’ cultural awareness, providing a successful and long-lasting experience while learning the language and culture of Spain, and working well and respectfully with students and personnel in the Seville campus. This study abroad program is a very important language experience for the Spanish program, and one which the Spanish faculty wants to preserve and expand.

This teaching appointment is the result of a highly competitive application process and reserved only for graduate students who demonstrate that they can work well in the Seville campus. For this reason, after the forms are received, the Spanish faculty as a whole discusses all the candidates, votes, and agrees on the top candidates. The faculty discusses the following areas:

- Status in the program: ABDs have a better chance to obtain the position, but only if the student can successfully fulfill the other areas (see below) that are also evaluated. ABDs need to include in the application a written letter from their thesis directors with their approval to apply for the Seville position. If the application does not have the written approval of the thesis director, the application will not be considered.

- Excellent teaching skills: students’ evaluations, teaching observations, ability to teach only in Spanish, being able to promote communicative interactions in the classroom, impartiality when providing grades, professional conduct with students (not fraternizing with their students). If the applicant does not fulfill this requirement, the applicant will not continue to the next step of the process.

- Good academic standing: grades, showing seriousness in studies and in the MA/PhD courses, progressing successfully during her/his program and dissertation, etc. Any concerns about the academic standing of the applicant will result in the applicant not being selected.

- Good citizenship: works well and respectfully with others—meaning professors, colleagues, coordination team, director of Spanish-lower courses, and other departmental administrative personnel. If the applicant does not show that he/she can work well with others, the applicant will not be selected. Good citizenship also means participating in the life of the department.

- Complete the form in a professional manner: complete sentences (no run-on sentences), providing clear statements and reasons for being in the Seville campus.

If the Spanish and Portuguese faculty believes that the applicant fails to complete one or more of the aforementioned requirements, the applicant will not be selected. You will have two times to apply during the academic year: (a) the September application is for the following summer and fall, and (b) the January application is for the following spring semester. Yet, fall applicants who have been accepted to teach in Seville will have preference to teach the following spring semester in case their Seville assigned courses in the fall do not make

REGISTRATION FOR COURSES

All coursework must be approved by the departmental Graduate Advisor BEFORE the student registers for classes. All changes in registration (adding, dropping, changing credit hours, etc.) must be reported to the departmental Graduate Advisor BEFORE the change is made. Failure to obtain prior approval for changes from the Graduate Advisor could result in revocation of financial support.

Information about maximum allowable graduate hours is found in the most recent TTU Catalog.

The Graduate Advisor must sign the schedule form before the student registers for his/her classes.

ALL BUT DISSERTATION (ABD) STUDENTS REGISTRATION PROCESS

ABDs must provide the following information in order to register:

1. Who their dissertation advisor is,
2. Which summer session/semester they need to enroll in, and
3. Whether or not they are going to be distance students.

This information is necessary to create a section for each ABD.
The form is to be filled out and approved BEFORE registering for any classes. The Graduate Advisor must sign this form and a copy should be given to the Graduate Administrative Assistant before the semester begins or before the add/drop period.

ANNUAL REPORTS

Every spring semester all M.A. and Ph.D. students must complete a report describing their activities for the past calendar year and plan for the year to come. These annual reports thus provide the student with an opportunity to review his/her own progress in relation to expectations, and it also keeps the Graduate Advisor aware of a student's progress.

The annual report forms (see Appendix) are our means of collecting data on when a student intends to graduate and whether our current graduate teaching assistants wish to renew their teaching appointments for the next academic year.

A complimentary progress form is used to keep track of the courses all funded and unfunded M.A. students have completed. This form must be turn in to the Graduate Advisor at the end of each academic semester. See "M.A. Candidate Progress Form" or "Ph.D. Candidate Progress Form" (See Appendix).

ACADEMIC PROBATION AND SUSPENSION

Every student enrolled in the Graduate School, whether working toward a degree or not, is required to maintain a high level of performance and to comply fully with the policies of the institution.

The Graduate School reserves the right to place on probation or to suspend any post-baccalaureate or graduate student who does not maintain satisfactory academic standing or who fails to conform to the regulations of the university.

Students who are admitted to a degree program on condition of maintaining a required GPA are automatically on academic notice. Failure to fulfill the conditions stipulated at the time of admissions will result in termination from the program.

Students whose overall graduate GPA falls below 3.0 are placed on academic probation. During the following term, if their overall GPA remains less than 3.0 and their term GPA is greater than 3.0, they are placed on continued probation. They are placed on academic suspension in the second consecutive term in which their overall GPA is less than 3.0. Students placed on academic suspension are required to remain out of the Graduate School for one term.

Summer terms and/or trimester count as one term. In accordance with OP 64.07, any student who has been suspended must appeal to the Graduate School if reinstatement is desired. A student who is placed on academic suspension twice will not be allowed to return to the Graduate School.
Students may be suspended for unprofessional conduct such as cheating, plagiarism and documented misconduct. Any appeal of such action is subject to the provisions of the Code of Student Conduct. See the Student Handbook for further information.

CONTINOUS ENROLLMENT

Graduate students on assistantships. Graduate students on an assistantship position (GA/TA/GPTI/RA) must enroll in at least 3 credits during each summer term of employment. If you have an appointment for summer II, you must be enrolled in at least 3 credits during summer II.

Continuous enrollment. Graduate students who have begun thesis or dissertation research must register for 6000 or 8000 courses, as appropriate, in each regular semester and at least once each summer until all degree requirements have been completed, unless granted an official leave of absence from the program for medical or other exceptional reasons. This means that if a doctoral or master’s (thesis option) student is off campus or does not have an assistantship this summer, they must enroll in 1 credit of 6000 or 8000, as appropriate, during the summer, unless they plan to graduate in August (see below for term of graduation requirements). If you did not enroll for 1 credit of 6000 or 8000, as appropriate, during the summer I, then you must enroll in credit during summer II.

Term of graduation. Graduate students in a doctoral or master’s (thesis option) program must enroll in at least 3 credits during the term they graduate. Graduate students in a non-thesis master’s program must enroll in 1 credit of non-thesis coursework in the term they graduate. This means that doctoral or thesis master’s students must enroll in 3 credits this summer and that non-thesis master’s students must enroll in 1 credit this summer. If you did not enroll as required during summer I, then you must enroll during summer II.
PETITIONS AND REQUIREMENT CHANGES

The requirements, regulations, and procedures are established by CMLL and apply to all graduate students. The delineation of these regulations represents the collective effort of the graduate faculty, and only under truly extraordinary circumstances will exceptions be granted. All petitions should be requested in writing to the student's committee of studies and Graduate Advisor.

Petitions to the Graduate Committee and Graduate Advisor are required in the following cases:

- Permission to take an independent study (7000) course (See form below).
- Permission to take an elective course outside the department (See form below).
- Permission to take more than 12 hours of graduate courses per semester.

Written copies of any petitions must be turned in to the Spanish Graduate Advisor and the Departmental advisor (domestic or international).

Note: Under university regulations, students retain the option of following the requirements of their program that were in effect at the time of their entrance into the program, even in the face of subsequent changes, or of following the modified requirements. However, each student must meet all requirements for the chosen program. Thus, for example, a student who enters the program under one set of requirements but chooses to be examined under the requirements in effect at the time of the examination must meet all requirements in effect at the time of examination. The Spanish Graduate Committee will not waive this general obligation.
Independent Study Courses

Independent study courses are reserved for the following cases: 1) Students who have exhausted all normal course offerings in a given area and who wish to pursue an advanced topic, with the Graduate Advisor's approval; 2) Doctoral students preparing their dissertation proposal before taking their comprehensive exams, and 3) Students that teach in our Seville Center (See information about the Seville Teaching Appointment above).

M.A. students will generally find that each semester a sufficient number of graduate courses in each concentration are offered such that independent studies are rarely warranted for M.A. students. Under no circumstances should an independent study course be given in place of a normally offered course taught in another semester, or to improve an unsatisfactory grade.

A student contemplating an independent study should petition the Graduate Committee and the Spanish Graduate Advisor by filling out the "Independent Study Course Petition Form" (See the form below). Once approved, the petition will serve as a syllabus for the course and should include (1) a brief description of the proposed course of study; (2) a working bibliography; (3) a description of the graded work that will be done, with dates for turning in work clearly indicated; (4) the signed agreement of the supervising professor.

Fill out form below.

Note: Under no circumstances should an independent studies course be given in replacement of a normally offered course taught in another semester, to improve an unsatisfactory grade, or to prepare for comprehensive examinations. Exceptions to this rule are only given to GPTIs that teach in the TTU Seville Center.
Courses outside CMLL

Graduate students may be allowed to take a course outside of CMLL as long as the student's main advisor approves and justifies the need for it. Students seeking to minor in areas outside of CMLL or obtain a graduate certificate should also have their main advisor's approval prior to obtain the Graduate Advisor's approval and signature.

All petitions will be directed to the Department Chair who will evaluate these requests in a case-by-case basis.

Fill out form below.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Any student who fails to register during a fall or spring semester (or during either summer session once thesis or dissertation research has begun), and who does not have an official leave of absence from study is subject to review for readmission by the standards in effect at the time of reconsideration.

Official leave of absence, which is granted by the Dean of the Graduate School upon departmental recommendation, may be requested only in case of serious medical conditions and other exceptional reasons. Normally, leaves of absence will not exceed one year. Leaves of absence do not extend the maximum time allowed for completion of the degree. Request for leaves of absence must be sent to and approved by the Associate Dean and by the student’s faculty advisor including any supporting documentation prior to their leaving the university.
STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS WITHIN CMLL

CÉFIRO: ENLACE CULTURAL Y LITERARIO

Céfiro is a nationally-recognized Spanish Graduate student organization. The Spanish/Portuguese graduate students are a vital part of this organization, which is responsible for a variety of graduate student activities. Each fall, they host an International Cultural Day in the Foreign Languages Building in which they spotlight the many cultures/nations represented in the department. Every spring, Céfiro hosts an international graduate conference in which many faculty members and students present academic papers. In addition, the organization produces a yearly journal, giving graduate students opportunities for peer-reviewed publication and editorial experience.

Membership

Membership is open to any and all graduate students currently enrolled at Texas Tech whose area or interest of study is: Latin American and Iberian languages, literatures and cultures. Membership responsibilities vary depending upon the activity or duty for which each individual volunteers.

The annual fee is used to fund the yearly activities. Membership benefits include discounted registration rates for the annual conference and journal subscription.

Céfiro, the Journal

Since 1999, Céfiro Journal has been publishing insightful essays on the Luso-Hispanic literatures and cultures from the Iberian Peninsula and Latin America. Back issues of the Céfiro Journal are available on Dialnet.
