Join the Faynan Landscape Project and investigate the archaeology of the first factories and their environmental legacies.

Participants in the field school register for
CLAS 4300 and CLAS 4310
(Archaeology of Jordan, 6 credits)
INSTRUCTOR CONSENT REQUIRED

Registration fee
$250 (non-refundable)
Camp Fee (room and board, 5 days per week)
$3000
NUMBERS OF PARTICIPANTS ARE LIMITED

Participate in archaeological survey and excavation and explore the archaeological rich landscapes adjacent to the sites investigated. Receive training in a research-intensive environment with a low instructor/student ratio which allows for mentoring in key sub-fields of archaeology, environmental analysis, bioarchaeology and geoarchaeology. Students will be involved in all parts of the research, from collecting the data, to processing finds and analyzing information derived from the data.

For more information contact
Dr. Hannah Friedman, FL 258, hannah.friedman@ttu.edu

Students are responsible for their own international transportation to Jordan and weekend expenses.
All participants must have a valid passport, show proof of valid travel/medical insurance, complete other essential paperwork and participate in a pre-departure briefing prior to participation.
