

Fall 2013 Electronic Media Electives

Fulfills Visual & Performing Arts Elective

EMC 3308.001, Visual Communications.

Course is a 'lecture' class where students learn about photographic techniques, visual design and the use of images across different types of media. Great class.

TR, 3:30 – 4:50 p.m., CRN 11586

MWF, 9 – 9:50 a.m., CRN 19534

Other Electives

EMC 4301.001, Contemporary World Cinema: Global Lens.

Excellent elective that will focus on international film. This will be an excellent class for students interested in films from across the world.

R, 6 – 8:50 p.m., CRN 22012

EMC 4301.002, Producing for Sports.

Looking to build your resume and learn about producing sports – from live events to play-by-play, take a look at this unique learning opportunity.

T, 6 p.m., CRN 22013

EMC 4301.003, Freelance Media.

Do you want to learn how to be a freelancer? Looking to start your own photography, video or web design business? What are some important factors when dealing with clients? Take this course and find out answers to these questions and more!

M, 6 – 8:50 p.m., CRN 30923

EMC 4315.001, Advanced Web Production

Expand your Web-building tools by learning how to build Web sites that interact with users. Create online communities. Efficiently manage hundreds of Web pages in large sites. Master Web design with HTML, CSS, and basic graphics tools. Craft an entire Web presence that extends a client's business mission. Use modern tools to manage server administration. Install, manage, and extend self-hosted WordPress sites. Find, acquire, and deploy scripts and plug-ins to create new Web applets.

TR, 8 – 9:20 a.m., CRN 12169

“These courses will heat up your fall semester.”

