Magazine Ranks Online Graduate Programs in Top 25

Two online engineering programs at Texas Tech were ranked in the top 25 graduate programs in the United States by U.S. News and World Report. The online engineering program ranked No. 20, while computer information technology ranked No. 14. Read more about it in this story on Texas Tech Today.

A Note From Justin Louder About the SACSCOC Visit

Texas Tech recently hosted members of a SACSCOC On-Site review team. We were found to be compliant with all standards directly related to online programs. Visit our Tumblr blog for a note from Justin Louder about the visit and how it related to online and regional site courses.

New Worldwide eLearning Website

Worldwide eLearning's new website is live! Many thanks to David Johnson and Melissa Morrow for working to get our website on the new Texas Tech design templates. Check it out now at eLearning.ttu.edu.

The Origins of Distance Education at Texas Tech

Texas Tech's distance education program dates back as far as 1966 when a group of “flying professors” began delivering a Masters of Engineering program by aircraft to Borger, Midland, and Pampa. The Daily Treador caught up with one of the original flying professors recently. Read the interview in this DT Article.
