WOMEN WORLDWALKERS:
NEW DIMENSIONS OF
SCIENCE FICTION AND FANTASY

Edited by
Jane B. Weedman

Texas Tech Press
Lubbock, Texas
1985
Contents

Preface ......................................................... 5

Woman: The Other Alien in Alien .......................... 9
  Rebecca Bell-Metereau
Responsibilities and Temptations of Women
  Science Fiction Writers ................................. 25
  Marion Zimmer Bradley
Women and Technology in Science Fiction:
  An Uneasy Alliance ...................................... 43
  Valerie Broege
Earth Mothers or Male Memories:
  Wilhelm, Lem, and Future Women ................. 59
  Patrice Caldwell
The Classical Humanism of Philip K. Dick ............ 71
  Peder Christiansen
Types of Feminist Fantasy and Science Fiction ...... 83
  Kathleen Cioffi
Orders of Chaos: The Science Fiction of Joanna Russ 95
  Samuel R. Delany
Christa Reinig's Emausculation:
  Male Chauvinism as Science Fiction ................. 125
  Esther N. Elstun
"A Good Game to Play": Brian Aldiss and the Mother of Science Fiction ........................... 139
  David Leon Higdon
Wife/Mother, Sorceress/Keeper, Amazon/Renunciate:
  Status Ambivalence and Conflicting Roles
  on the Planet Darkover ............................... 153
  Barbara Hornum
The Evolving Consciousness of Feminine Identity in Doris Lessing's The Memoirs of a Survivor and Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland and
  Through the Looking-Glass ............................ 165
  Sandra Lott
Women of Dune: Frank Herbert as Social Reactionary? 181
  Miriam Youngerman Miller
The Brass Brassiere: Sexual Dimorphism in Science Fiction Illustration ............................. 193
  Marilyn R. Mumford
Worlds of Words and Swords: Suzette Haden Elgin and Joanna Russ at Work ........................................207

Thelma J. Shinn

“Great Country for Men and Dogs, but Tough on Women and Mules”: Sex and Status in Recent Science Fiction Utopias ........................................223

Lynn F. Williams

Gender Roles in the Darkover Novels of Marion Zimmer Bradley ........................................237

Diane S. Wood

Notes on the Authors ........................................247