CHILD DEVELOPMENT IN LONDON, ENGLAND

Students participating in this program will have the unique opportunity to study child development while exploring the rich culture and history of London and surrounding areas. Students will enroll in one course on Theories of Human Development and the Family and one course on Child and Adolescent Guidance which will be taught in an innovative fashion to encourage exploration, interpretation, and analysis. With excursions to local schools, the Victoria and Albert Museum of Childhood, the Freud Museum London, and Oxford University, students will gain a cultural and historical perspective of childhood. Students will also have the opportunity to appreciate English culture by attending the theater, visiting a castle, traveling down the Thames river, and taking high tea.
