Did you know?

The Administration Building was one of the first four buildings on campus modeled after the Universidad de Alcala de Henares in Alcalá de Henares, Spain. The Administration building consists of three floors and a basement and includes twin bell towers, double wings, and a courtyard. It also houses the offices of the President and the Provost, as well as Institutional Research.

The statue of Will Rogers and his horse, Soapsuds, was a dedication by his friend Amon G. Carter in 1950. This statue was placed on campus with Will riding into the western sunset. However, this caused his backside to be facing the entrance of the University so the horse and Will were turned 23 degrees to have his posterior facing the direction of Texas A&M. Before every home game, Will and his horse are wrapped in red crepe paper by the Saddle Tramps.

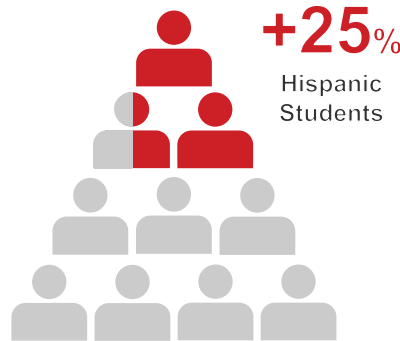

Raider Red is one of the mascots of Texas Tech University. The Southwest Conference created a rule in 1971 forbidding the bringing of live animal mascots to away games unless permitted by the host school. Because the Masked Rider had the potential to be prohibited, Raider Red was created as an alternative. A member of the Saddle Tramps, Jim Gaspard, created the original design of the Raider Red costume based on a character created by the cartoonist and former mayor of Lubbock, Dirk West.

About Texas Tech

Texas Tech University is among the top colleges and universities in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education.

In the Carnegie ranking, TTU has a “Very High Research Activity” classification. This is the highest recognition from Carnegie.

Texas Tech University achieved the classification of “Hispanic Serving Institution”.

This is possible because Texas Tech’s Undergraduate student enrollment is at least 25% Hispanic.

Texas Tech Rankings:

#2 Best College for the Money (with aid) in the Southwest, per CollegeFactual.com, 2020.

#2 The Best Online Colleges in Texas, 2020 (OnlineColleges.com).

#60 Top Public Universities in the U.S., per Niche, 2020.

#427 Top Ranked Universities in the World, per Center for World University Rankings, 2020.
