Who are Support Coordinators?
RISE staff trained to help students navigate Title IX-related concerns while collaborating with the Student Resolution Center (Title IX Investigators), Office of Student Conduct, Student Counseling Center & the Dean of Students.

Who do Support Coordinators work with?
- Any reporting party. Support Coordinators serve all genders, identities, and sexual orientations.
- Resources for respondents are available through the Dean of Students.

Why does Tech have Support Coordinators?
- To support & empower survivors in the aftermath of trauma
- To support students’ overall health, safety, and wellness.
- To inform you about reporting options, though the decision to report is solely yours.
- If you choose not to file a report, a Support Coordinator will file an anonymous CSA report to TTUPD to meet Clery Act obligations (survivors are encouraged to be present to see exactly what is filed).

What is a Support Coordinator?

What does a Support Coordinator Do?
1. Pre-meeting/ Initial Meeting
   - Meeting to discuss the Title IX process, reporting options, rights, responsibilities, and available remedies. This can happen before or after a meeting with a Title IX investigator.
   - Assess your immediate safety & wellness needs such as medical, emotional (counseling), or housing, etc. Formulate a safety plan, and bring in outside resources as appropriate.
2. Facilitate remedies with the Dean of Students Office
   - Be the liaison between you and the Dean of Students Office. While you and your Support Coordinator will determine requested remedies, the DOS staff will assist with implementation.
3. Student Follow Up
   - You will receive follow up communication from your Support Coordinator throughout the investigation process (if you choose to proceed), and at several points afterwards.
     - Communication will be conducted through phone or email.
     - Our purpose in contacting you is to determine what on-going/additional support you may need, and how you are doing overall with regard to school, the campus environment, and your wellbeing.
4. Keep basic records. Please note- no identifying information will ever be shared without your consent.
   - Demographic information, along with requested remedies, dates/times of service (for log purposes)
   - Document a record of communications.
   - Anonymous Jane/John Doe incident description for the Clery report. You are welcome to participate in filling out this report with your Coordinator.

When requested:
1. We can accompany you to any Title IX related meetings. You are also able to have an Advisor accompany you along with, or in place of, your Support Coordinator.
2. We can put you in touch with other resources such as Voice of Hope, Women’s Protective Services, Student Counseling Center, and similar resources.
