

Assistant Professor of Practice in Social Work: Texas Tech University

The Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Social Work at Texas Tech University invites applications for a multi-year renewable non-tenure track faculty position in Social Work. This appointment, beginning September 1, 2018, requires teaching the equivalent of four courses per long semester, as well as providing significant service activities to the university and community. Candidates should be willing to teach with different pedagogies, including traditional classroom settings, as well as online or as field faculty liaison across the BASW and MSW curricula. Availability for summer teaching and/or field faculty liaison duties for additional compensation is preferred. Continued appointment is contingent on positive annual and a majority affirmative vote of the academic unit.

- Essential qualifications include an MSW degree from a CSWE-accredited program, two or more years of post-MSW practice experience, and eligibility for social work licensure in Texas.
- Preference will be given to applicants with: history of social work practice of 10 or more years, experience teaching in higher education or mentoring social work students in field settings, demonstrated record of successful collaboration with community social service agencies, history of successfully working with the Hispanic community, record of writing successful grant applications, and/or PhD/DSW.

Qualified candidates should complete an online application available at <http://www.texastech.edu/careers/faculty-positions.php> using requisition ID#11531BR by December 1, 2017. The applications must include: a cover letter addressing qualifications; curriculum vitae or resume; copies of MSW and other college transcripts (originals must be provided if hired); and names, credentials, and contact information for at least three professional references. Queries may be directed to the Chair of the Search Committee, Cara Speer, LCSW, MSW through email at cara.speer@ttu.edu.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Located in Lubbock, Texas, TTU is a state-supported National Research University with an enrollment that exceeds 35,000 students. The Lubbock metropolitan area is home to 250,000 people, enjoys affordable housing, abundant sunshine, and friendly people. Lubbock is also considered a hub for health care services; there is a large medical community, within and surrounding the TTU Health Sciences Center. The TTU campus is known for its veterans-friendly policies. More information about the Social Work Program at TTU can be found at: www.depts.ttu.edu/socialwork.