

TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY
Davis College

Animal & Food Sciences™

2024

Davis College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources
Award Selection Committee

Dear Committee,

It is my pleasure to nominate Dr. Heidi Brady for the Davis College Outreach and Engagement Award. Dr. Brady is a current faculty member at TTU who has demonstrated achievement in outreach and engagement by strengthening the university's commitment to preparing ethical leaders to foster global change through reaching out to and engaging with the audiences the Davis College serves.

Dr. Brady has demonstrated excellence in outreach and engagement through service learning, engaged research, and community impact. Dr. Brady established the Equine Assisted Therapies program at Texas Tech University. The program, which incorporates equines in therapies, relates to broad areas of therapy, as licensed therapy professionals may incorporate horses in counseling, occupational therapy, physical therapy, psychotherapy, and speech-language pathology. Since its inception, the program has impacted and served more than 2500 community members and trained more than 200 professionals to work in the field.

Please find attached the nominee's vita and summary of student teaching evaluation scores. Your consideration of Dr. Brady for this award is greatly appreciated.

Regards,

Dr. J Chance Brooks, Chair
Department of Animal and Food Sciences
Texas Tech University