(Anastasia Stellato) Great professor.

(Anastasia Stellato) I absolutely enjoyed the class, I felt it was very beneficial and gave me a wonderful learning experience. Thank you so much Dr. Stellato for a great semester! God bless!

(Anastasia Stellato) Love this class!

(Anastasia Stellato) why are there so few spots for this class this is the most valuable course in my entire time at this college

(Anastasia Stellato) The class was very effective in reviewing material learning in the pre-requisite, not a ton of new information. Service hours tend to be hard to complete due to having other classes and commitments as students.

(Anastasia Stellato) I think this class was great at giving student hands on experience with dog training. One suggestion I have is to have quizzes on a specific day. They can still be pop quizzes, but with the random times and them being take home quizzes, this got a little confusing at times.

(Anastasia Stellato) Dr. Stellato was very knowledgeable about the material and more than willing to answer questions and engage students in the material. She made learning the material enjoyable.

(Anastasia Stellato) I thoroughly enjoyed this course and the content I was taught throughout the semester. I learned so many thing through this class that I can utilize in the future. Both Dr. Stellato and Dr. Hall did an amazing job in teaching the material and giving us opportunities to practice what we learned with dogs at various shelters.

(Anastasia Stellato) I loved taking this class, thank you for having me!

(Anastasia Stellato) Great class. Really enjoyed it.

(Anastasia Stellato) I would say my only issue with this class is all the driving. Gas is very expensive and driving to the lab and shelters so often used so much. I also think the amount of shelter hours should be decreased because it was very easy to train the dog and they learned pretty fast. It has gotten to the point I go to the shelter just to play with dogs because I've learned how to train them so by now it is just an hour to train a dog everything I've learned in this semester and now I help the shelter out more and play with dogs just to get them out of the kennels since I cleared the objective. Maybe lab should be required so those hours can go to the 25 required for the semester.

(Anastasia Stellato) I really enjoyed this class, but I think there were too many service hours required.

(Anastasia Stellato) I think the layout of the course was very convenient and easy to follow. She provides us with all the information needed and outlines the course very well.

(Anastasia Stellato) Really fun class and loved how hands on it was. Great professor and she cares so much about what she's teaching and her students. Favorite class ever

(Anastasia Stellato) It was a challenging course but a really good learning opportunity. The hands-on aspect increased my enjoyment of this class.

(Anastasia Stellato) I really enjoyed this course, and thought the format of everything worked really well! The teaching demos at the end of the year was a great way to experience how it may be to lead a dog training/behavior class, and I found the practice extremely useful! I think the most difficult thing was completing service hours, especially when my partner was not the most punctual when responding to times that worked for them. It was also a little frustrating to be on time when my partner was typically 30-45 minutes late. I know for the training evals it is important for us both to be there, but I feel like we should be able to go alone if we want when no videos are needed. That way if there were any issues one person could complete their hours even if their partner did not.

(Anastasia Stellato) The only critique that I can think of is to try to make it so that she is not reading directly from the slides so much. Reading directly off the slide when going over case studies is just fine. This is more for when describing concepts. What I have always been taught when making slides is to not put too much on them and to use them as a way to guide/outline the discussion or lesson rather than a direct script. Perhaps have more discussions of real-life scenarios on Blackboard throughout the semester to help with understanding. I know that a couple of students felt like the material was good in theory but did not feel that it was completely realistic in a vet clinic or home. There could even be a discussion board where students can post training questions and other students could try to provide advice on the situation, with the instructor to guide the discussion and make sure that the advice being given is correct.

(Anastasia Stellato) Interesting course, got to learn a lot about behavior and training as well as get hands on experience

(Anastasia Stellato) Professor Stellato has consistently proven to be an outstanding educator, captivating her audience with engaging lectures. She possesses a wonderful blend of qualities—being approachable, humorous, and amicable—which makes interacting with her effortless, whether seeking clarification on a lecture or lab-related inquiries.

(Anastasia Stellato) Awesome class with an amazing professor! Highly recommend this course!

(Anastasia Stellato) Stellato tried to blame the students on the error of the scheduling system or her not telling us the shelter didn't want us to come. Other than that her slides and test reviews helped with the tests and the volunteer hours were fun when we weren't getting blamed for stuff

(Anastasia Stellato) I learned a lot in both the lecture and hands-on portions of this class. The labs and service learning were very helpful in actually practicing training techniques. I appreciated the constructive criticism that was given in the labs. The teaching demo was a neat experience to actually interact with dog owners.

(Anastasia Stellato) I liked the format of the lectures and exams. The emails with a brief exam review were very helpful. I appreciated how Dr. Stellato replied to my emails in a timely manner. I am thankful for Dr. Stellato taking time and effort to answer the questions that I had throughout the class. The service hour requirement was a good way to allow students to get hands-on experience in the animal shelter.

(Anastasia Stellato) I just wish the labs were more effective, I think the on hands experience was not effective as I thought it was going to be. I felt like lab was the least informative part about this class. There were too may people in one group and not enough dogs. I feel like there should have been demos before the lab so it would be better to understand. I also wish there would be feedback on all the exams we were given and the assignments, some of the questions were not clear. I think this class was good overall.

(Anastasia Stellato) I feel as though communication with the instructor and the local shelters lacked slightly.

(Anastasia Stellato) I really enjoyed being in this class and being able to learn more about ways we can help our animal shelters.

(Anastasia Stellato) Dr. Stellato did a great job teaching and presenting information throughout the semester! I enjoyed how there was a hands-on component of the class as well as how the lectures and exams were given. I think the class accommodated all learning styles.

(Anastasia Stellato) I really enjoyed the format of the seminar. It was nice to be in a section with students who research similar topics!

(Anastasia Stellato) One of my favorite courses I have taken at Texas Tech! Great Professor!

(Anastasia Stellato) Appreciated the service hour requirement and the fear free assignment, since they filled out the course and translated lecture material to practical use.

(Anastasia Stellato) I really enjoyed the format of a few lectures on the front end of the course before moving into student seminars.

(Anastasia Stellato) I really enjoyed the course! It was very interesting to learn from other presenters on their research. I did learn how to improve my powerpoint slides to be more visual and catchy.

(Anastasia Stellato) We had to do 20 service hours for animal shelters in Lubbock and I felt that 20 hours was a lot, especially because we had to do it with another student in the class. It was hard to find times where both of us could volunteer.

(Anastasia Stellato) Awesome class! Dr. Stellato is a great instructor and always makes sure our lectures are engaging. The required service hours allowed us to gain experience working with animals and apply our knowledge from lecture. Assignments and tests were simple but straight forward.

(Anastasia Stellato) I thoroughly enjoyed this course! The content was relevant and Dr. Stellato is great! Although it has already been mentioned, I would recommend a better lab method. I felt as though there was much instruction when training and would have much rather had pairs instead of groups during the semester, it was hard to work on something th the dog, and someone with a different training style as you do something different that inhibits your work worth the dg. However, I still loved the course and thought t was very fun and beneficial!!

(Anastasia Stellato) Dr. stellato is great! Good class that was unfortunately at 8 am. I feel like the only thing she could work on is explain assignments a little better. I was confused about a few things but it turned out ok.

(Anastasia Stellato) This course had a slightly different format than the seminar with Dr. Stellato last semester (Fall, 2022). I really enjoyed the changes made and I feel I have become a more effective presenter in this course.

(Anastasia Stellato) The lecture portion was fine and the amount of assignments was good. My only complaint is that the labs were almost pointless. We would drive 30 minutes to the farm to just stand outside with a dog for an hour. This may just be me, but Dr. Halls practicum was the only reason I learned what I did when training the dogs. She is very easy to get a hold of though which makes things easier if I have questions, much appreciated.

(Anastasia Stellato) Dr. Anastasia encourages you to make scientific presentations to help you in the next steps in academia. I appreciated having a practice before my seminar presentation with feedback and corrections. The feedback encouraged me to get out of my comfort zone for my presentations. I really appreciated her class this semester.

(Anastasia Stellato) She´s a very good professor, the topics are understandable and very interesting

(Anastasia Stellato) It was a great class with two great professors! I'm very glad that it was offered.

(Anastasia Stellato) This has been one of the most useful courses I have taken during my graduate career and I am thankful for the opportunity to learn about these important topics regarding research. My only recommendation is to not call on the students, but encourage them to speak up if they feel comfortable answering. Because graduate students are already motivated to pay attention and learn, I don't think this teaching technique is necessary. Other than that, the professor was extremely well organized, had excellent communication, and was approachable and encouraging.

(Anastasia Stellato) I appreciated the ability to practice presentations. However, I wish we went over content and examples of how to develop an effective presentation and present data effectively. I didn't feel like I learned anything new, with regards to presentation skills or animal welfare. I thin seminar would be more useful if it was more skills building focused.

(Anastasia Stellato) This course was an excellent opportunity to practice presentation development and oral skills. I think it would be great to review some presentation techniques to help bolster the quality of presentation delivery. Connecting with the department that runs the TEACH program at TTU might be able to provide some great resources for presentation skills.

(Anastasia Stellato) This course was pivotal for my graduate degree. This course covered content that was essential for helping me build skills as a researcher and understand foundational concepts for appropriate research design and critical analysis. I think every graduate student would greatly benefit from this course. Dr. Stellato genuinely cares that you are understanding the content and goes above and beyond to provide extra resources, include applied learning in the classroom, and answer questions comprehensively and timely. Fabulous course and instructor!

(Anastasia Stellato) Yes, this is a great course! Learning objectives and materials will help students to apply those methods and knowledge in their research area. The instructor evaluation process was also well organized and flexible according to students. I liked that if a student had any issues understanding an assignment question that led to making mistakes in the assignment she made sure that as a class bonus marks were given to those questions Overall the course and the instructor's teaching strategies were great!

(Anastasia Stellato) It would've been helpful to spend more time on each individual subject to enhance comprehension. I think a bit of a slower pace would be beneficial.

(Anastasia Stellato) Overall I really liked the class! A little bit of a stats background was definitely required for this course. Some of the concepts were confusing and difficult but overall I feel like I understand more of how to work with my data, how to interpret it, and why certain tests should be used.
