

DR. ANGELA M. SHAW

Professor,
Animal & Food Sciences

“Your purpose lies in your passion.
My passion lies in empowering people,
communities, and companies to make decisions
that result in a secure food supply.”

RESEARCH EXPERTISE

- Research-based food safety interventions for the food industry
- Food safety behavior of the workforce in the food industry
- Food insecurity: local foods, food waste, nutrition, retail, distribution, policy and regulation impact, community planning, etc.
- Workforce development and mentorship of underrepresented people and communities

PROFESSIONAL PREPARATION

- B.S. Animal Science, Iowa State University, 2003
- M.S. Meat Science, Iowa State University, 2006
- Ph.D. Animal Science, Texas Tech University, 2010

FAVORITE ARTICLE

Shaw, A., & Helterbran, K. (2018). Development of a food safety training for a prison farm: Challenges and solutions. Journal of Extension, 56(7), Article 13. <https://doi.org/10.34068/joe.56.07.13>

“This state-funded project was to assist prison farmers with workforce development and education. The goal was to educate the prison population about food safety on the farm and teach them how to run a mixed-type farm, livestock and produce.”

WHAT MAKES THE DAVIS COLLEGE GREAT?

“It’s all about the people. Davis College has faculty, staff, and students who care about the local community and the world. Outreach and service is a core value of every person within the college.”