

PLAN IT OUT

1. Choose one university in Texas.
2. Choose one community college in Texas.
3. Choose one independent institution in Texas.

Research one of each of these types of schools to learn about your options and opportunities!

University: A big school that offers many types of degrees and programs. Universities often have large campuses and lots of resources.

Community College: A local college that offers two-year programs. These colleges usually cost less and can help you transfer to a university.

Independent Institution: A college or university in Texas that is not part of the state system. These schools have their own special programs and rules.

	Texas University	Community College	Independent Institution
College or University
Location
City Population
Student Population
How far is it away from home?
Mascot/ School Colors
Average Cost Per Semester
What will I study?
What is a normal class size?
What is the student-teacher ratio?
Student organizations to join?
Why am I interested in this college?			