

DISCOVERIES TO

IMPACT

WELCOME

Be part of the momentum that powers West Texas. Join us in celebrating—and accelerating—the best ideas, research, and startups shaping our region's future.

WHAT IS DTI?

Discoveries to Impact (DTI) is Texas Tech University's month-long celebration of innovation, research, and entrepreneurship. Each April, faculty, staff, students, and partners showcase breakthroughs that create real-world impact for society.

Across Research Week, Startup Week, and Innovation Week, the conference blends poster sessions, pitch competitions, awards banquets, keynote luncheons, and graduation ceremonies—spotlighting bold discoveries and fearless entrepreneurship.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM LAST YEAR

In 2024, Texas Tech didn't just celebrate innovation, it unleashed it. More than 2,500 attendees engaged across the month as $362,000 was awarded to undergraduate researchers, innovators, and entrepreneurs. Research Week featured over 450 student presenters at the Undergraduate Research Conference, while the CISER Research Banquet recognized scholars with more than $42,000 in scholarships.

Startup Week energized the community with a keynote address from Bahama Buck's founder Blake Buchanan and culminated in the Texas Tech Accelerator Competition, where 12 startup teams received a total of $300,000 in seed funding. Innovation Week closed out the month with the graduation of Cohort 9 of the Texas Tech Accelerator Program and a ceremonial ribbon cutting, marking the launch of a new wave of entrepreneurial ventures.
