Partnership with Collin College to Offer Degrees in Dallas Area

Texas Tech University will soon have a presence in the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex. Officials from Texas Tech and Collin College in McKinney have signed an agreement making us the newest partner in the Collin Higher Education Center. Starting in Fall 2015, students in the DFW area will be able to pursue a bachelor's degree from Texas Tech without leaving home. Read more about the partnership and the degrees that will be offered in this story on Texas Tech Today.

Online Programs Ranked by U.S. News and World Report

Texas Tech's online graduate programs placed in U.S. News & World Report's 2015 Best Online Programs rankings in three different areas. The online graduate computer information technology program ranked at No. 14, the Whitacre College of Engineering graduate program at No. 20, and the online graduate education program at No. 107. Read more about it in this story on Texas Tech Today.

eLearning Course and Program Grant Recipients

We're pleased to announce the recipients of the 2014-2015 eLearning Course and Program Grants. The eLearning Council's Grant Review Committee carefully reviewed the proposals and awarded grants to fund the design of 10 online/distance courses and development of nine new degree or certificate programs.
