

2025

RESILIENCE & RETENTION CONFERENCE

Matthew Markin

Academic Success Coordinator/Academic Advisor,
Academic Success and Undergraduate Advising

California State University, San Bernardino

Matthew Markin is the academic success coordinator and academic advisor at California State University, San Bernardino. Matt has worked in higher education for 20 years, with over 11 years in academic advising. Matt holds a B.A. in Psychology and M.A. in Education-Career & Technical Education. Matt was recognized in 2016 as the winner of the CSUSB President's Outstanding Employee Staff Award and NACADA's Outstanding Advisor - Primary Advising Role Award. In 2017, Matt was the winner of the NACADA Region 9 Excellence in Advising – Advisor Primary Role Award. In 2019, Matt completed the NACADA Emerging Leaders Program (2017-2019 cohort). Since 2020, Matt hosts two academic advising related podcasts, Adventures in Advising and the CSUSB Advising Podcast. Matt has also written for Academic Advising Today and was a co-editor on NACADA's pocket guide, Advising is Forever: Sharing Stories to Ignite (or Reignite) Your Advising Spirit.