The International Research and Development Division was established in March 2014 to increase international research and development activities at Texas Tech University. The division works with faculty campus-wide to create teams of researchers, identify potential funding, and develop grant proposals. Dr. Gad Perry, the current Director of the International Center for Arid and Semiarid Land Studies (ICASALS) has been tapped to be the founding Senior Director of the research division, starting September 1, 2014. Ms. Reagan Ribordy was hired in March 2014 as the Senior Grants Administrator, and has already ramped up efforts to secure sponsored funding for international research. As an additional service to the Texas Tech community, we have decided to prepare and circulate to you this monthly International Funding Alert. We hope that this will provide you with timely information regarding funding opportunities for international research and development initiatives.
