

How to Read Class Schedules

Course descriptions may be found at the Course Descriptions homepage. This page will also tell you the prerequisites necessary to enroll in the course. Input the correct information and select “Filter” to find specific courses.

Course syllabi may be found at the Course Information page. To do so, select the “Search in” dropdown menu on the righthand side of the webpage, then select “Syllabus.” You may input a specific term (ex: Spring 2025) or leave it blank, then select “Search”.

Class schedules may be found at the Registration website. Select “Browse Classes,” then select the desired semester. Search by subject type and course number to view class details.

For example, below is a search result for undergraduate Business Administration classes:

- 1) Title: Operations Management is the title of the course.
- 2) CRN: 56490 is a computer-generated Course Reference Number used for registering for classes. CRNs change every semester.
- 3) Course Number: 3304 is a number that identifies the content covered in a course and stays the same throughout every semester unless a curriculum is updated.
 - The first 3 in 3304 means that it is a junior-level course (1 would mean a freshman-level, 2 a sophomore-level, etc. Numbers above a 4 would mean the course is a graduate-level course.)
 - The second 3 in 3304 means this course is worth 3 semester credit hours.
- 4) Section Number: D01 is a number that distinguishes one class from another especially when multiple sections of the same course are offered in a semester.
- 5) The Syllabus tab will provide a short description of the course and its contents.
- 6) The Instruction/Meeting Times tab will provide information on what day and time the class meets per week. You can also contact the professor via the link provided in this tab. Days are shown as follows:

M = Monday

T = Tuesday

W = Wednesday

*R = Thursday

F = Friday

S = Saturday
