Caucus Opportunities

Caucuses are opportunities for attendees to come together around specific identities or roles. The caucuses are meant to be a safe space to engage in healthy discussion and dialogue about lived experiences. Everyone in caucus discussions should follow some basic ground rules, such as assuming good will among all participants, challenging with care, and respecting confidentiality. It should be a space to talk through challenges, brainstorm practices to dismantle barriers, and celebrate successes.

Facilitators in each caucus will assist in guiding the discussion and reminding participants of ground rules. They will also serve to offer perspective to the discussion as well as steer the group towards productive resolutions.

Attendees are asked to enter caucus spaces for identities and/or roles they hold.

- Allyship – Mesa Room
  Brant Farrar, he/him/his, and Ben Braddock, he/him/his, co-facilitators
- Asexual Sexuality – Brazos Room
  Courtney Savage, she/her/hers, facilitator
- Bi, Fluid, Pan, and Queer Sexualities – Traditions Room
  Phoenix Crane, she/her/hers, and Katarina Swaringen, she/her/hers, co-facilitators
- Community Support and Partnerships – Caprock Room
  Tricia Earl, she/her/hers, and Grace Rogers, she/her/hers, co-facilitators
- Race, Ethnicity, and Queer Identities – Playa Room
  Matthew R. Hernandez, he/him/his, and Nefertiti Beck, she/her/hers, co-facilitators
- Staff and Faculty Supporting LGBTQIA Students – Matador Lounge
  Catharine A. Duran, she/her/hers, and Elizabeth Karam, she/her/hers, co-facilitators
- STEM Fields and Queer Identities – Double T Room
  Mychael Solis-Wheeler, he/him/his, facilitator
- Transgender and Gender non-Conforming – Canyon Room
  Alec Cattell, he/him/his, and Kent Smith, he/him/his, co-facilitators

Please email matthew.r.hernandez@ttu.edu with any questions.