The mission of the Texas Tech University School of Law is to prepare individuals for the effective and ethical practice of law in a rapidly changing, diverse, and interconnected world; to engage in a meaningful scholarship; and to foster a culture of public service.

TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY
School of Law™

WWW.DEPTS.TTU.EDU/LAW/

“Texas Tech Law is an outstanding school committed to training lawyers who are respected, proven, professionals. Our faculty are passionate about teaching and advancing knowledge through scholarship. Our alumni are among the best in their fields. Our students are engaged, proactive, and have a strong work ethic.

As you explore these pages and discover what Texas Tech Law has to offer, I hope that your goal of becoming a lawyer will become a reality here.”

DEAN JACK WADE NOWLIN, J.D., PH.D.

THE DOCTOR OF JURISPRUDENCE (J.D.) program is designed to provide a general legal education. To earn a J.D. degree from Texas Tech University School of Law, students must successfully complete a minimum of 90 credit hours.

THE LEGAL PRACTICE PROGRAM (LP) introduces students to a variety of skills, including research, objective and persuasive writing, client interviewing and counseling, alternative dispute resolution, and appellate advocacy. Professors in the LP program have significant practice experience, including private practice and appellate judicial clerkships.

THE MARK AND BECKY LANIER PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT CENTER gives Texas Tech Law one of the finest legal education facilities in the nation. The United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit and the Seventh Court of Appeals of Texas have heard arguments in the Don Hunt Courtroom. Students also use the courtroom to develop the skills necessary to practice in technologically-advanced courtrooms anywhere in the country.

THE OFFICE OF ACADEMIC SUCCESS PROGRAMS (OASP) is dedicated to helping law students achieve their full academic potential.

OASP offers many beneficial services, including:

- Workshops on study skills such as reading and briefing cases, taking notes and outlining, and writing law school exam answers.
- Workshops on learning styles, time management, and stress management.
- Individual meetings to discuss specific study strategies.
- Weekly tutoring for all first-year doctrinal courses.

THE LAW LIBRARY provides support for the educational, instructional, and research needs of the Texas Tech Law community. The law library houses a vast collection of print and electronic materials, along with a superb faculty and staff who provide expert legal research assistance. Additionally, the law library offers collaborative study areas for groups and more than 200 study carrels for students to study, research, and write. Students have 24/7 access to the law library.

THE CAREER SERVICES CENTER (CSC) provides every student with individualized attention and a personalized plan for success. The CSC also promotes professional development by hosting workshops on topics ranging from career acquisition skill development to employment readiness. Services remain available free of charge for all alumni throughout their careers, exemplifying the personal, accessible nature of Texas Tech Law.

For detailed employment statistics, visit www.depts.ttu.edu/law/career-services/index.php

The data presented reflects information collected from graduates by Texas Tech University School of Law's Career Services Center and reported to the American Bar Association and the National Association of Law Placement. The information represents composite information for the graduating class (December 2015 through August 2016) and does not predict future performance. Individual success will vary and may be affected by academic success, general economic conditions, legal market conditions, work experience, experiential study participation, career choice, job type, location, and other factors.

DUAL DEGREES

The dual-degree programs allow students the opportunity to differentiate themselves in a competitive legal employment market by demonstrating specialized expertise in a particular area. The Graduate Schools accept LSAT scores in lieu of GRE or GMAT scores. Specific information for each degree can be found at <http://www.depts.ttu.edu/law/academics/jdp/index.php>.

DUAL-DEGREE PROGRAMS INCLUDE:

- J.D./Doctor of Medicine
- J.D./Master of Business Administration
- J.D./Master of Engineering
- J.D./Master of Public Administration
- J.D./Master of Science in Agricultural and Applied Economics
- J.D./Master of Science in Accounting (Taxation)
- J.D./Master of Science in Biotechnology
- J.D./Master of Science in Environmental Toxicology
- J.D./Master of Science in Personal Financial Planning
- J.D./Master of Science in Sports Management

“Enrolling in the J.D./Master of Business Administration was one of my best decisions in law school. Whether you are looking to develop your managerial skills or enhance your analytical skills, this program is perfect because it helps you do both—all in three years. From a world-class faculty to small class sizes and team projects every week, I can now look back and say, the JD/MBA program was a great investment.”

- Deontae Wherry
Class of 2017

CONCENTRATIONS AND CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Texas Tech Law offers concentrations and certificate programs in several areas for students who want to focus on a specific field.

- Business Law Concentration
- Criminal Law and Innocence Concentration
- Law and Science Concentration
 - Biodefense Law and Public Policy
 - Energy Law
 - Environmental Law
 - Intellectual Property Law
 - Water Law
 - Science, Engineering, Technology, and Law
- Emerging Technologies Law Certificate

For more information, please visit <http://www.depts.ttu.edu/law/academics/concentration/index.php>.

CENTERS

Texas Tech Law currently has three centers dedicated to a particular area of law for the purpose of offering interdisciplinary collaboration and consultation.

- Center for Biodefense, Law, and Public Policy
- Center for Military Law and Policy
- Center for Water Law and Policy

For more information about the centers, please visit www.depts.ttu.edu/law/centers/index.php.

Because Texas Tech University is the only campus in the state that is home to a major research university, law school, and medical school, students benefit from pursuing not only a J.D. but also one of ten dual-degree programs.

“ The Criminal Defense Clinic has been the highlight of my academic career at Texas Tech School of Law. Through the clinic, I have had the opportunity to represent real clients facing serious charges. I learned what being a zealous advocate truly means. I became the voice for my clients when they felt voiceless, fought for them when they wanted to give up, and believed in them when they had no one in their corner. ”

- Rasha Zeyadeh
Class of 2017

CLINICS

The clinical program allows students the opportunity to gain practical skills training in different areas of legal practice by representing clients and delivering professional legal services under close faculty supervision. The close mentoring helps students prepare for the professional obligations they will assume as a lawyer.

50 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE

After a hard-won fight at the Texas Legislature led by the Honorable Alvin R. Allison, former Texas House Representative and Texas Tech University graduate, the doors of Texas Tech Law opened in 1967 with 72 students and Dean Richard Amandes at the helm. When that first class graduated in 1970 and took the July bar exam, Texas Tech Law earned its first 100 percent bar passage rate.

Since then, the Law School has graduated more than 8,000 students, including the first woman to head a major federal-law enforcement agency, the Army's highest-ranking legal officer, general counsels of corporations, elected officials, state and federal judges, and some of the nation's top litigators.

APPLYING TO TEXAS TECH LAW

Texas Tech Law seeks to enhance the educational experience of all students in the Law School by admitting applicants from a wide range of backgrounds and experiences. Applicants who will possess a U.S. baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university, prior to enrollment, are eligible for admission. The admissions committee reviews applications holistically and on a rolling basis. Texas Tech Law reserves the right to deny admission to applicants who, in the judgment of the admissions committee, appear to be unfit in character to engage in the study or practice of law. For more information about our admissions policies, please visit: <http://www.depts.ttu.edu/law/admissions/process.php>.

To apply to the Law School, applicants must apply online via the LSAC electronic application. An application is considered complete and ready for review when the following documents have been submitted to LSAC:

- Valid LSAT score
- Official transcript
- Minimum of two letters of recommendation
- Resume
- Personal Statement

FINANCIAL AID

Scholarships and loans are available to assist students finance their legal education at Texas Tech Law. Law students must be enrolled in at least 12 credit hours in the fall/spring semesters (4 credit hours during the summer) to be considered a full-time student for financial aid purposes.

SCHOLARSHIPS In awarding scholarships to new students, Texas Tech Law uses the same factors considered in evaluating the applicant for admission. All admitted students are automatically considered for any scholarship funds for which they are eligible. Scholarships are also available to students in their second or third year of law school and are awarded on the basis of academic performance and financial need.

Non-Resident Tuition Waiver: Texas allows non-resident students who receive a competitive academic scholarship of at least $1,000 to receive a waiver of non-resident tuition. Non-resident students who receive such a scholarship will be charged resident tuition, which represents an additional savings of over $10,000 per year.

LOANS All students seeking financial aid other than scholarships must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). This application enables the Law School to determine eligibility for grants and loans available to assist students with their education. Law students are eligible for several kinds of loans available from the federal government, the most common being Direct Unsubsidized and Direct PLUS loans. For additional information, visit www.depts.ttu.edu/law/financialaid/state-aid.php
