

Assessment: Assessment Plan

Degree Program - GRAD - Land Use Planning, Management, and Design (PHD)

CIP Code: 03.0206.00

Degree Program Coordinator: Eric Bernard

Degree Program Coordinator Email: eric.bernard@ttu.edu; david.doerfert@ttu.edu

Modality: Face-to-Face

Student Learning Outcome: Physical design and multi-disciplinary endeavors

Students in the LPMD program must be able to demonstrate an understanding of the different facets of physical design and multi-disciplinary endeavors.

Outcome Status: Active

Outcome Type: Student Learning

Assessment Methods

Self-Assessments - Outgoing student survey (Active)

Criterion: TBD after first set of results

Qualifying Exam - Qualifying Exam and Admission to Candidacy. (Active)

Criterion: TBD after first set of results

Student Learning Outcome: Communication Skills

Students in the LPMD program must demonstrate effective communication skills between compartmentalized systems of knowledge.

Outcome Status: Active

Outcome Type: Student Learning

Assessment Methods

Self-Assessments - Outgoing student survey (Active)

Criterion: TBD after first set of results

Participation - Student publications and presentations. (Active)

Criterion: TBD after first set of results

Student Learning Outcome: Interdisciplinary skills

Degree Program - GRAD - Land Use Planning, Management, and Design (PHD)

Students in the LPMD program must demonstrate the ability to bring knowledge from one discipline to focus on problems and outgoing projects of another.

Outcome Status: Active

Outcome Type: Student Learning

Assessment Methods

Self-Assessments - Outgoing student survey (Active)
Criterion: TBD after first set of results

Dissertation - Dissertation and Oral exam (Active)
Criterion: TBD after first set of results