The European Union is facing tough governance and policy issues. With the EU in turmoil, this is an excellent time to take a close look at some of the major policy issues confronting the EU and how the governance process is dealing with these issues. This study abroad experience will take students to Brussels, the seat of government of the EU, to Frankfurt, where the financial center of the EU is located and to Berlin, where the government of the dominant EU country is located. Policy issues that will be investigated through meetings with representatives of the EU and other parties and agencies involved include the immigration crisis, the continuing monetary crisis, energy policy, threats of countries exiting the EU, and environmental policy. There will also be organized tours to tourist sites and free time to experience the culture.
