Ranked in Golf Digest as one of "America’s 100 Greatest Golf Courses." The Alotian Club is located in the heart of Arkansas, just west of Little Rock. Founded by Warren Stephens, son of the former Masters Chairman, Jack Stephens. The 18-hole course is located within 1500 acres of rolling hills, features a state-of-the-art practice facility and the states only caddie program.
The Alotian Club Golf Course Management Internship

OVERVIEW

The program trains qualified and motivated individuals the skills needed to become an effective Assistant Superintendent and eventually a Golf Course Superintendent. Working at The Alotian Club will give interns the opportunity to learn what it takes to maintain a high end private golf club. The Alotian club is a fast paced work environment where quality and attention to detail are paramount. Interns will be exposed to future golf course improvement projects to include bunker construction, tee box construction, fairway drainage, and tournament preparations for the 2019 Palmer Cup. Consisting of cool and warm season grasses gives interns the unique opportunity to learn how to manage Bentgrass and Bermuda greens as well as Zoysia grass tees, fairways and rough. Intern positions are available from 3-12 months in length. The amount of time an intern spends in each block of instruction depends on previous experience and needs of the club. Interns who successfully complete the 10 blocks of instruction will be given priority to return as a Turf Grad and/or an Assistant in Training upon graduation.
