Boot Ranch is a Hal Sutton designed golf course. Located in the German town of Fredericksburg 80 miles west of Austin, also known as Texas wine country. The property consists of an 18-hole top 10 ranked golf course in Texas and Practice Park. The 34-acre Practice Park ranked as one of the Top 50 private ranges in the nation. It includes a three-sided driving range, a three-target short range, and a three-hole short course. In 2017, the club underwent a successful 3-million-dollar renovation that included constructing a 1-acre putting green, new bunkers with bunker solution liners, conversion of 28 bent-grass greens to tiff-eagle ultra-dwarf Bermuda, and several other changes to improve the playability of the golf course further.
