About The International

The International Golf Club is a premier private facility located just 45 minutes west of Boston in Bolton, Massachusetts. Situated on more than 640 acres of beautiful, rolling terrain, the club features two distinguished 18-hole golf courses, the Oaks and the Pines, as well as a first-class practice area.

Founded in 1901, The International remains highly regarded among golfers for its championship playing conditions and focus on the game of golf. The Oaks course, a Tom Fazio design that opened in 2001, is a modern championship layout featuring large-scale design elements and significant elevation changes. The course's playing surfaces are meticulously maintained and consist primarily of bentgrass and Poa annua. In 2021, Escalante Golf acquired The International Golf Club. Since then, renowned golf course architect Tripp Davis and his team have renovated the Oaks, making significant updates to the course. The renovations were on full display in 2022 when The International hosted the LIV Golf Invitational Boston.

The Pines course, a completely new design by Coore & Crenshaw, opened for play in 2025. The Pines reflects a more traditional approach to golf course design, featuring fine fescue tees and fairways, deep, natural-style bunkers, and extensive native areas. Since opening in 2025, The Pines has received numerous awards and accolades. Together, the Oaks and Pines continue to provide memorable golfing experiences year after year.

Position Summary

The International Golf Club is seeking motivated individuals to join our agronomy team and grow with us. We are looking to fill Intern and Assistant-in-Training (AIT) positions for the 2027 golf season. Interns and AITs will assist with all aspects of golf course maintenance operations. These positions will work closely with the Director of Agronomy, Golf Course Superintendents, and Assistant Superintendents to actively manage operations on both the Oaks and Pines courses. The opportunity to work on two distinct golf courses makes this an exceptional place to learn and develop professionally.

Interns and AITs will gain hands-on experience in a variety of areas, including course setup, irrigation repair, plant protectant applications, moisture management, and agronomic practices specific to bentgrass and fescue playing surfaces. Additionally, interns and AITs will have opportunities to participate in staff management, short- and long-term planning, construction projects, and professional development. These experiences are designed to help prepare candidates for future leadership roles in golf course management.
