

CLINICAL/COUNSELING PSYCHOLOGY ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF PRACTICE AT TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY

The Department of Psychological Sciences at Texas Tech University (TTU) invites applications for one full-time, 9-month, non-tenure track, Assistant Professor of Practice (#31929BR) This position is eligible for promotion and continuing appointment in the sixth year. Starting date for the position is Fall 2023.

Major responsibilities

1) Supervise Clinical and Counseling Psychology doctoral practicum students working within the Department of Psychological Sciences' Psychology Clinic; 2) Assist the Psychology Clinic Director with administration of the Clinic, including supervision and training of graduate student Clinic Co-Directors and providing crisis consultation on clinical cases; 3) Potential to teach courses in the Clinical and Counseling doctoral curriculums and the department's undergraduate curriculum to meet program and department needs; and 4) Service to the department, college and university is expected.

Required Qualifications

- 1) A doctoral degree in Clinical or Counseling Psychology from an APA- or CPA-accredited doctoral program.
- 2) Completion of an APA- or CPA-accredited predoctoral internship.
- 3) Licensed or license-eligible as a Psychologist in Texas. Postdoctoral supervision is available for those license-eligible; although, full licensure is expected within two years of hire.

Preferred Qualifications

- 1) Experience providing supervision to psychologists in training.
- 2) Clinical experience providing therapy for clients with a wide range of presenting problems.
- 3) Clinical experience utilizing a range of treatment approaches.
- 4) Clinical experience providing crisis services or consultation.
- 5) Clinical experience providing therapy to a wide age range of clients.
- 6) Clinical experience providing therapy to a diverse (beyond age differences) client base.
- 7) Clinical experience providing assessments to a diverse (including age differences) client base.
- 8) Administrative experience within clinical or other settings.
- 9) Versatility and flexibility to function effectively within a large, complex academic department and Psychology Clinic.

The Department, Programs, and Clinic

The Department of Psychological Sciences at Texas Tech has doctoral programs in Clinical (APA accredited), Counseling (APA accredited), and Experimental Psychology. We currently have 27 full-time tenured and tenure-track faculty, 130+ doctoral students, 1,500+ undergraduate majors, and a Psychology Clinic. Clinical and Counseling Psychology doctoral students and faculty provide services in the Psychology Clinic, including psychological assessments and interventions with individuals, couples, and families. The Psychology Clinic serves a diverse client base, ranging in age from young children to older adults. Clients consist of a mix of university students and staff, and members of the broader community. Texas Tech is a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI). We have a strong commitment to diversifying our faculty and strongly encourage applications from members of diverse groups and from those with experience working with diverse student populations and first-generation students.

Application Deadline

Review of applications will begin on February 28, 2023.

Application Procedures

Applications must be submitted to our online application Web site, at: www.workattexastech.com, under the above requisition number. Applications should include a letter outlining your supervisory, clinical, and administrative experience, a current curriculum vitae, a statement of supervision philosophy and approach, and three letters of recommendation. Please direct questions to Dr. Chris Robitschek, Chair of the Search Committee, chris.robitschek@ttu.edu, 806-834-1771.

With a population of approximately 310,000 people living in Lubbock County, the city of Lubbock is home to 263,000 residents. Lubbock is an ethnically diverse community, with a low cost-of-living, temperate climate, modern airport and infrastructure, and excellent school districts. Lubbock has a world class entertainment center, the Buddy Holly Hall, that routinely hosts Broadway shows. Lubbock also has a number of 4-star restaurants and diverse cuisines. The TTU Presidential Lecture and Performance Series hosts world famous entertainment and renowned speakers. In short, Lubbock is the cosmopolitan and multicultural center of the Texas Panhandle with outstanding entertainment and a bustling art and music scene.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minoritized candidates, women, veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

We have a strong commitment to diversifying our faculty and strongly encourage applications from members of diverse groups and from those with experience working with diverse student populations and first-generation students.