The /200 Project

This project addresses sensitive issues around sexuality, trauma, and healing. The purpose of the /200 project is to provide a safe space for survivors to share their stories and reclaim their bodies.

In honor of Domestic Violence Awareness Month, we proudly present a week of interactive events presented by artist, Ali Waller. Join us for a meaningful and transformative experience as we raise awareness through the power of art.

Students will create plaster face masks for this workshop that can have paint or sculpture applied to them. The idea is to portray the difference between what you present to others, as opposed to your actual feelings, by painting the outside and inside differently.
