Mid-Spring 2019

Department Spotlight

Risk Intervention & Safety Education (RISE) is a component of the Office of the Dean of Students at Texas Tech University. RISE is empowering Texas Tech students to live vital, meaningful lives through comprehensive prevention education. RISE provides a variety of services, educational workshops, fun FREE events, and administers the required web-based prevention course for all incoming first-year and transfer students.

RISE is home to the Peer Educators, a student leadership group that facilitates educational workshops, hosts substance-free events, and can be found regularly around campus facilitating educational resource tables about subjects like alcohol and drugs, violence prevention, stress management, suicide prevention, and healthy relationships.

RISE services for students include judgement-free individual coaching for Texas Tech students on their holistic wellness or substance use. RISE also offers free condoms and menstrual products in our office and helps supply several other offices around campus with these products. Twice a semester, RISE offers FREE STI testing and HPV vaccines on campus.

This April, RISE is working with our campus and community partners to coordinate Sexual Assault Awareness Month. For a complete list of events, please visit the RISE website. Don't forget that April 24th is Denim Day. Contact RISE@ttu.edu to let us know that your office is participating and we will make sure to deliver stickers to your team!
