The Office of Student Conduct (OSC) is a department located within the Dean of Students unit at Texas Tech University. OSC is responsible for helping to provide a safe learning and living environment in partnership with various campus areas. While the office primarily addresses actions against members of the university community, academic misconduct, and organizational misconduct they also remind students the office is a resource.

The office meets with individuals on a range of issues and assists in referring them to various campus partners who may be able to provide additional guidance, to include but not limited to: Counseling Services, University Career Center, Academic Colleges, Center for Campus Life, University Student Housing, RISE and more.

The Office of Student Conduct also offers presentations and partners on programming efforts which may be tailored to address individual concerns of the organization/group requesting it. Additionally, OSC welcomes opportunities to speak with groups who would like to simply learn more about institutional policies and would like to help prevent misconduct as best as possible.

Finally, if you have ideas for collaborations, would like to request a presentation, would like to share ideas of ways the office can more uniquely share information with students, faculty and staff please visit. The office is located in the Student Wellness Center, 211. The email address is studentconduct@ttu.edu and the contact number is 806-742-1714.
